The fort-like walls of Joliet Township High School, clad in their ivy garments, encircle a mass of the citizens of tomorrow. Within these walls each student is given the opportunity to develop his potential to the highest degree. School is a testing ground for the leaders of the future. It is to these, the students of Joliet Township High School, that we dedicate this, the "J of 1964."

Miss Mary Archer, "Miss J. of 1964"

Mr. Norman Ross, prominent radio and television newscaster-analyst, who selected "Miss J of 1964," Mary Archer.

Mary Archer

"Miss J of 1964"

The "Miss J" contest, which is sponsored by the year-book staff, is held as a means to select the most photogenic young lady in the senior class. Every girl is eligible and selection is based upon the photogenic qualities of over 300 girls.

In November, 34 photographs of senior girls were selected as semi-finalists. Of these, all but twelve were eliminated by a committee of prominent Joliet citizens. The twelve remaining pictures were sent to Mr. Norman Ross, a well known radio and television personality, for the final selection of the picture of the girl whom he felt had taken the best picture.

After almost two months of waiting the final announcement of "Miss J of 1964" came at the mid-term dance, Cupid's Caper, which was sponsored by the Student Council.

The Night Girls Looked Pretty As A (yearbook) Picture

"Miss J of 1963," Miss Sylvia Lundin, crowns Miss Mary Archer, her successor at the Student Council mid-term dance, "Cupid's Caper." Bill Sudakis, Sports Editor for the J-Hi Journal and Russ Thontlin, Sports Editor of The J look on as Sylvia places the crown on Mary's head.

Summer School Is A Big Operation

Mr. Leinenweber and Mrs. Gunchin have a big job in going over the students' program cards.

During the 1963 summer session, school was indeed a very big operation. There was a total enrollment of 2,116. Of this number, there were 1,768 high school students. The remainder were junior college, nurses, and extension students.

School started at 7:45 A.M. and continued until 12:25 P.M. each week day for eight weeks.

The library was open each day and was usually student filled. This was due to there being no study halls available, and, in many courses, library reference work was assigned.

Almost every subject was offered, and, some such as physics, were offered for the first time during this 1963 summer session.

Summer secretary, Miss Theodore, checks with Mr. Stallman concerning the summer schedule.

Mr. Williams, high school librarian, helps a student find a reference book.

The high school library was popular with many students since it offered a place to study.

Social Studies is a very popular course for incoming freshmen. Here Mr. Neill discusses Congress with his Social Studies II class.

Mr. Jenkins explains and demonstrates to his driver's training students how to make a correct left turn.

Students Work In Warm Weather

Advanced Reading is a popular summer course. It is taken by some "already-graduated seniors" who are college bound, as well as high school students who want to increase their reading speed and vocabulary. Here Mr. Day works a slide machine.

Mrs. Lind's English V class listens attentively as she explains the proper book report form.

Is Mr. Hopkins using a "Debbie Drake Exerciser?" No, he is demonstrating vectors in his Physics I class.

Studying Is Their Part-Time Summer Job

As students in Biology I work with the microscope, Mr. W. T. Allen points to the specimen as if he can see it with the "naked eye."

Mr. Lester uses the map to make a point in his U. S. History II class.

Ken Stogis, Jan Watson, and Marc Musser work at the board in Mr. Rick-off's Geometry II class.

Mrs. Barbee demonstrates the laying of a pattern as her Home Ec. II students watch intently.

J.T. Quiz Kids Compete On T.V.

AT RIGHT: Representing JT on "It's Academic" were Martha Katzin, Richard Kosmerl, and Margaret Leinen.

Key Club members representing Joliet Township High School on the television show, "The Other Guy," were Greg Geisler, Lee Haldorson, and Bill Genda.

On the show, the teams answered questions concerning rules of the road and traffic regulations.

Joliet was defeated by Maine East by a close score of 100 to 90.

English Mastery Is Goal Of Many Scholars

LEFT: These freshmen are "building better English" by getting a firm foundation in grammar and sentence structure. Miss Thackaberry reviews an important idea in her English II class.

RIGHT: Miss Thackaberry observes as Peggy Fetter and Ken Gray diagram sentences on the board for their English II class.

These upperclassmen are referring to references in the high school library. They came from study halls to utilize the numerous supplementary material.

Who wouldn't be tempted to check out many books from this impressive looking staff in the high school library? From left, they are Mr. Morgan, Rosemary Patton, Mr. Williams, and Susan Michaels.

Study Is Essential; Here Are Essentials Of Study

LEFT: Ron Thelo, library assistant, returns books to their proper places. He is one of many assistants who makes it possible for readers to readily find books.

RIGHT: Becky Decker, monitor, helps to keep the halls quiet and orderly during class time. With her help, students in study halls such as 337, find it much easier to concentrate.

The Mastering Of Foreign Languages Helps In

Beverly Bakos writes the English version of verb conjugations while Cindy Keck translates the words into French. Miss Hartman looks approvingly while two of her French students work at the board.

I love, you love, he loves, we love, you love, they love. Someone loves someone, but verbs must be known in order to understand sentences. Thus, Miss Margetis works with verb conjugations in her Latin class.

By using educational aids, such as the tape recorder, students in Latin have an added advantage. Pattern practices on the tape in Latin demand a quick answer, thus helping to familiarize students with the language. At left Miss Margetis works the recorder while her students look willing and eager to answer.

The Development Of Ever-Widening Horizons

Mr. Fielitz and his second year German class (right) pause a moment from translating German passages. Other activities of the second year class include speeches, skits, and puppet shows done in German.

Tests in a language class are indeed not foreign. They are given frequently to test the students' knowledge of constantly new concepts. At left, Mr. Davis, a student teacher, observes as his Spanish class takes such a test.

"Senors, senioritas, pay attention please," says Miss Neal as she works at the board (at right) explaining different parts of the Spanish language.

Social Science Coordinates The Past With The Future

LEFT: Pat Bussey and Bob Hoffman add another article to the bulletin board in Mr. Robinson's Social Problems class. In this course, students stay abreast of current social problems which will affect the world tomorrow.

RIGHT: Social studies helps in the preparation of better citizens for tomorrow. Here, Mr. Dorick lectures in his Social Studies I class.

LEFT: Greg Pans, Harlow Lockwood, Judy Mark, and Pat Jackinowski keep up a bulletin board in U. S. History. Besides studying past events of our country, special attention is given to current events which will be the history of tomorrow.

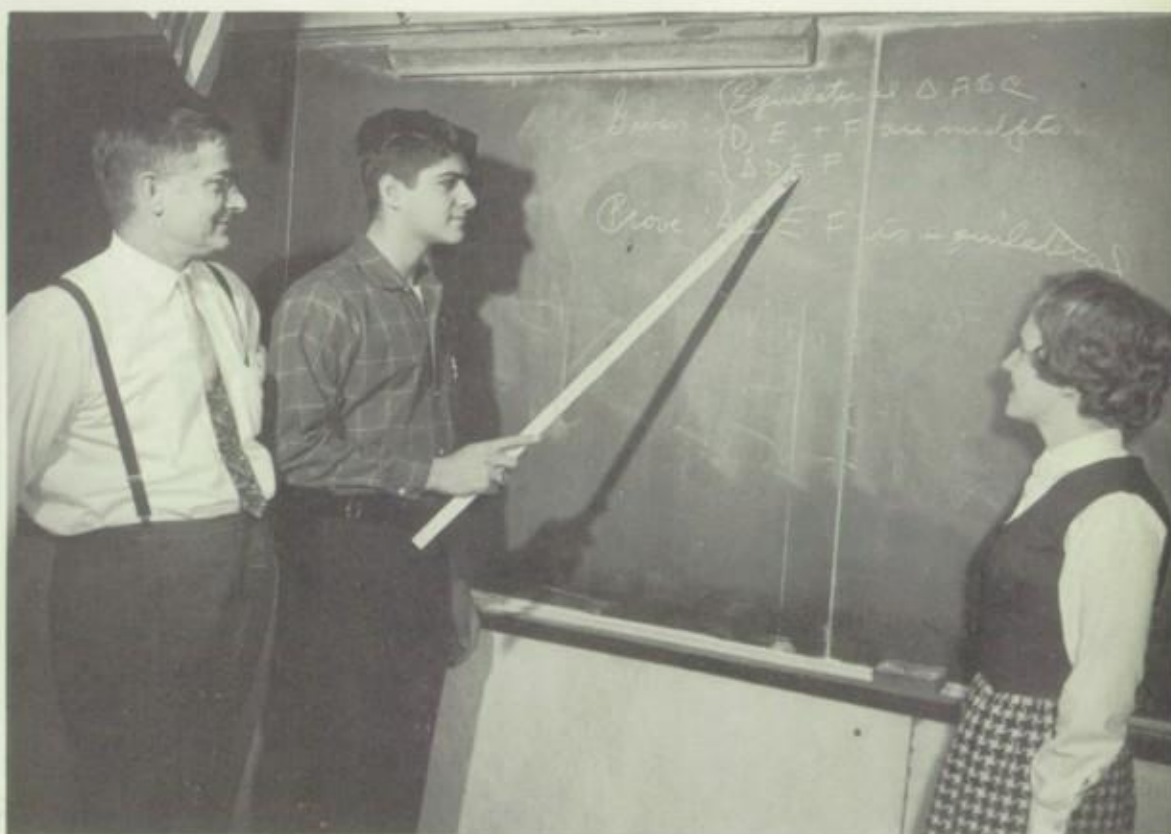

RIGHT: By the use of an outline, Mrs. Hawes covers important ideas in her U. S. History class. Audio-visual aids and maps also help to convey ideas in this course.

Mathematics Challenges The Mind

RIGHT: Many hands are raised as Miss Fisher seeks an answer to a problem in General Math.

BELOW: Students in Mrs. Armstrong's class work busily on a test in X Geometry. Besides covering concepts in plane geometry, these students also have six weeks of solid geometry.

RIGHT: Don Forte supplies the given in a theorem to be proven in Geometry. Mr. Gray and Lynn Bush observe.

RIGHT: There comes a time in the course of events when concepts must be put to a test. Such was the time as shown at the right. Students work diligently on a test in Mrs. Haine's Algebra I class.

To Meet The Demands Of Our

Biology is the study of plants and animals. These sophomores further their study of animals by dissecting an earthworm in X Biology I.

Replicas help students in Physiology to understand more fully the human body. Jim Gilroy, Mr. Sakal, and Linda Pratto examine a skull.

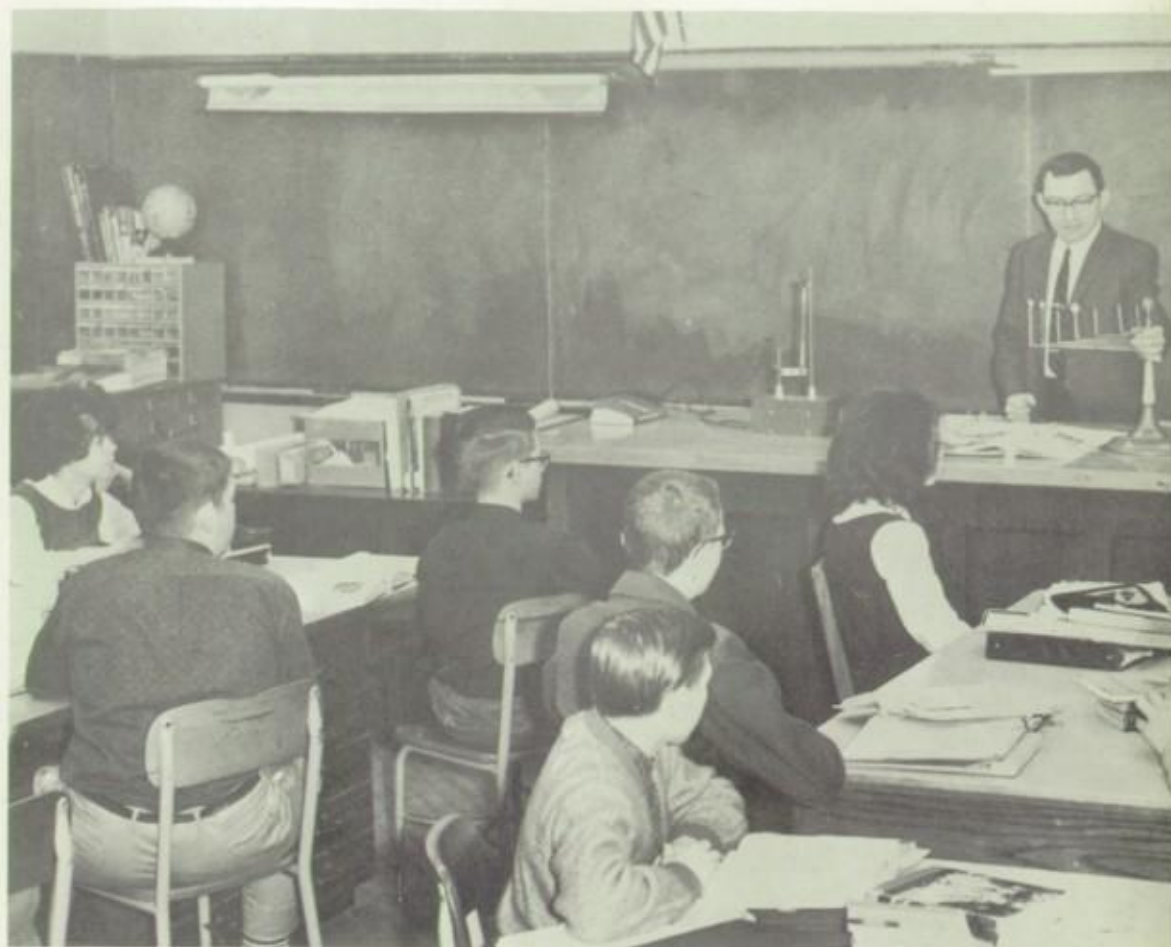

By using models, such as this one of the digestive system, Mr. Wimberly creates interest in his lectures in Health class.

Modern World, Science Is Essential

Laura Baratona and Ted Cottingham receive an earthworm from Mrs. Onsgard. The earthworm is one of the first dissections which will lead to the dissection of a frog.

A model of our solar system helps students in Earth Science to understand Mr. Tompkins's lecture.

"Have a heart, Mr. Wimberly," say Doreen Lesh and John Lawson as Mr. Wimberly wants them to distinguish arteries from veins and ventricles from auricles in Health class.

Assuming Scientists Assume Scientifically, These

AT LEFT: In Space Science, a comparatively new course at JT, Mr. Graham works with a retrograde motion demonstrator.

Mr. Graham and his space science class examine a solar sphere model. However, the students do get a first hand view of our own solar system by using the telescope on the fifth floor of our school.

"Physics is indeed a very hair-raising course," says Jeanne Smith as she conducts over 300,000 volts. Observing this unusual phenomenon are Lawrence Jones, Sally Huey, and John Honiotes.

Students Are, Scientifically Speaking, Scientists

AT RIGHT: Students in Prep. Chemistry work with analytical balances to get very accurate weighings for experiments in the lab.

By displacing hydrogen, Pam Haynes and Cheryl Kosmerl are finding the equivalent weight and valence of magnesium. This is one of many experiments done in the laboratory in Prep. Chemistry.

The science program at JT is very adequate and efficient. The class rooms are supplied with many specimens, models, and charts. The many different laboratories are equipped to permit students to observe, practice, and experiment with classroom theories.

The courses offered include Earth Science, Biology, Physics, Space Science, Chemistry, Health, and Physiology. Advanced, or "X" courses, are offered in many of these.

AT RIGHT: Rollie Axelson adds heat to a mixture of concentrated nitric acid and tin to find the formula of the oxide of tin. Rose Astorino and Mary Ellen Benac observe and keep their fingers crossed, hoping that Rollie knows what he is doing.

Distributive Education, under the direction of Mr. Hall, and Office Occupations, under the direction of Mr. Kahle, offer opportunities to students who want to get the "feel" of the business world while still in school.

The students, this year numbering over seventy, go to school in the morning and work in the afternoon, at least fifteen hours a week. The students in D.E. are in retail business while the O.O. students do clerical work.

These programs are open only to seniors. The students interested apply in their homerooms during their junior year. They are then interviewed by Mr. Hall and Mr. Kahle. These interviews lead to contacts being set up with their future employers.

Diversified Occupations Provides Vocational Training

The Diversified Occupations Program is designed to provide vocational training in a trade on a part-time basis for high school students during their junior and senior years.

The students alternate on a half-day basis between study in school and training "on the job" as an employee.

Some of the trade and industrial careers open to students are baking, drafting, dry cleaning, floriculture, laboratory technicians, meat cutting, photography, refrigeration, shoe rebuilding, sign painting, upholstery, and watch repairing.

This program provides many opportunities for students interested in trades to become leaders in their occupational fields.

Business Courses Prepare Students For Office Work

Students work diligently on typing exercises in Mrs. Kirk's Typing I class. Typing I is taken by many students who will continue with business courses, as well as by college bound students who will find typing very valuable for the writing of term papers and reports.

Miss Hudzietz (at right) observes as her Clerical Office Practice class types business letters. This advanced business course helps to prepare students for future secretarial positions. Students get practice in such things as typing letters which are dictated.

Have Cars—Will Educate Drivers

Track shoes are not needed for this kind of roadwork. It is the drivers' training kind. Having just returned from a roadwork session (left) are Robert Kraft, Robert Armitage (student teacher), Jacqueline Brereton, Mike Cleary, and Mr. Parker.

Drivers should be, and are, educated, through the sophomore drivers' education program. The students attend class for nine weeks on released time from their gym classes. Here, Robert Armitage, student teacher, and Mr. Parker, discuss a driving situation.

Photography Project Is To Produce Pictures

Photography I prepares students for future photography careers or gives students opportunities to learn how to take pictures for personal uses. Here, Mr. Hansen shows his class how to load film.

Art Adds To Cultural Enjoyment

A "model" student poses for her classmates in Art I-II. Volunteers are needed to make this project of portraits a success.

ABOVE: Mr. Parish offers a suggestion for improvement to Terri McClain as she works on a portrait sketch. Doing portraits of classmates is an important segment of Art I and II.

ABOVE: Linda Lindblad and Gary Davis work diligently on line drawings as some of their classmates' work is already displayed on the bulletin board.

Agriculture Produces Future Farmers

The Annual F.F.A. Sectional Grain and Poultry Show was held this year on November 2, 1963 at Newark High School, Newark, Illinois. Although it was a grain and poultry show, livestock was entered and judged.

The following boys won ribbons with the following products: Jim Phelps—wheat, soybeans, oats, corn, honey, alfalfa, chickens, and eggs; Bob Chesko—rabbits, including White New Zealand, White Satins, and Copper Satins; Tom Hauert—alfalfa and corn; Dan Stobbeona—popcorn; Allen and Jerry Schleeter—corn.

All the products entered were the boys' own and some were results of years of preparation. This show is a place where the boys can exhibit their products resulting from all ideas and methods learned and practiced in agriculture class and at home.

From General Shop Agriculture come the boys who will decide to go into farming as a major course in school and later as a career. Shown here is Mr. Deininger pointing out to his class the different parts of a steer.

Phelps, Bob Chesko, Tom Hauert, Dan Stobbeona, Allen Schleeter, and Jerry Schleeter.

Our Future In Farming Is Safe

Agriculture is like a course in art at our school. Boys, working with their hands and minds, mold a finished product from unshaped materials.

Agriculture is like a science at our school. Since, as in science, nothing is without change, new ideas and methods are constantly learned and practiced.

Agriculture is like a course of mathematics at our school. New ideas are added to already good ones. Old and bad ideas are subtracted from more efficient ones. How else could it be that our harvests are multiplied as compared to past harvests? Let's sum it up as agriculture being important and essential to all our lives, thus agriculture is an important and essential course at our school.

Tom Hauret has had a lot of experience with livestock—here are three of his major experiences.

Bob Chesko proudly displays some of the many ribbons won by his rabbits.

Tony Marino shows Bob Chesko the tomatoes, squash, asparagus, lettuce,

With These Future Farmers

Tom Hauert puts in much time with his livestock as is shown by this fine example—a Yorkshire boar. He has 8 bred Hampshire-York cross sows and 65 head of feeder pigs that weigh about 45 pounds each.

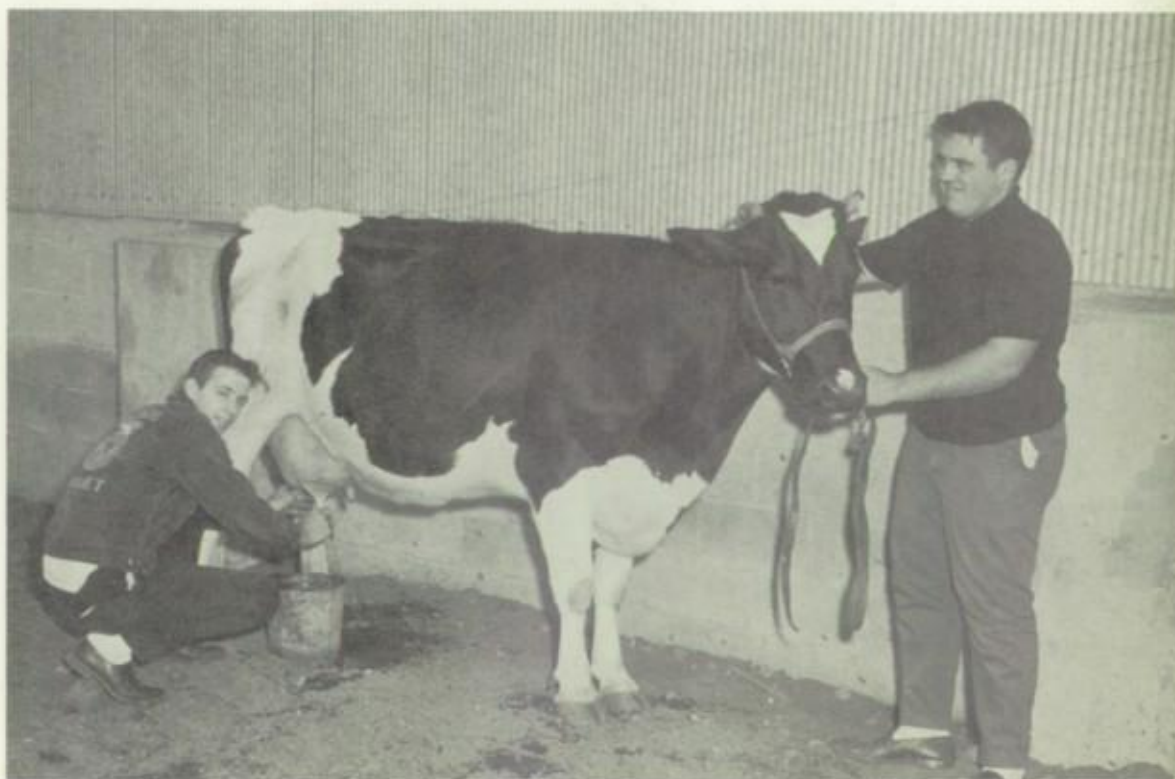

Tony Marino displays his fine cabbage to Tom Hauert. This is one product derived from the cultivation of his 40 acre farm.

pumpkins grown on his farm. Besides pumpkins, he raises peppers, and watermelon.

"It's easy if you know how," says Tom Hauert as he does one of the many chores needed for his farm.

Technically Speaking, These Students Of The Technical

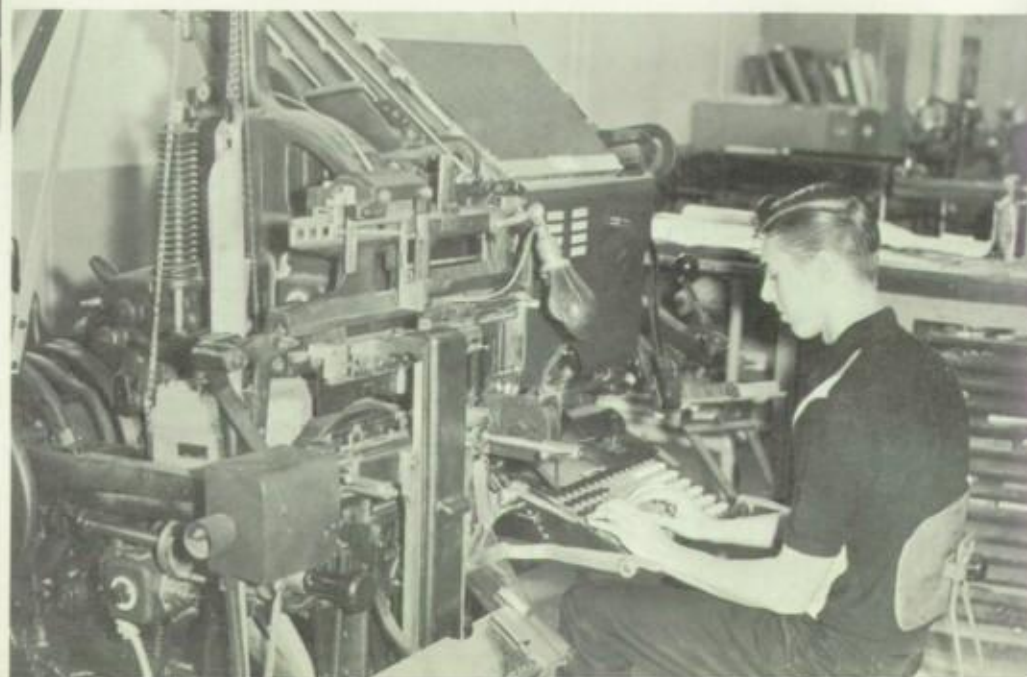

By cutting, bending, and assembling pieces of metal, students in metal shop (left) produce metal products. Roosevelt Byes completes his street number while Nick Egizio measures wire for a similar project.

Producing the school paper (right) is one of the jobs done by students in print shop. John Williams work a printing press as he turns out copies of the J-Hi Journal.

James Thuot and George Keltz (left) assemble wooden boxes, one of the first projects done in wood shop under the general shop program.

No, this isn't a typing class. It's Mr. Erckmann's print shop class. Walt Steffes (right) works a Linotype machine, one of the first steps in producing printed copy.

Arts Are Preparing For Highly Technical Careers

Precision is essential in producing precise wood products. Phillip Boyd (right) displays such a technique as he uses an electric saw in wood shop. Joe Ryan awaits his turn at the saw.

Equipment, utensils, apparatus, tools—you name it, and it's here. Jerry Gawenda and Norman West (above) pick up needed tools for their projects in metal shop.

Mr. Hooper (below) explains and demonstrates a correct procedure to Bob Seeman in auto shop.

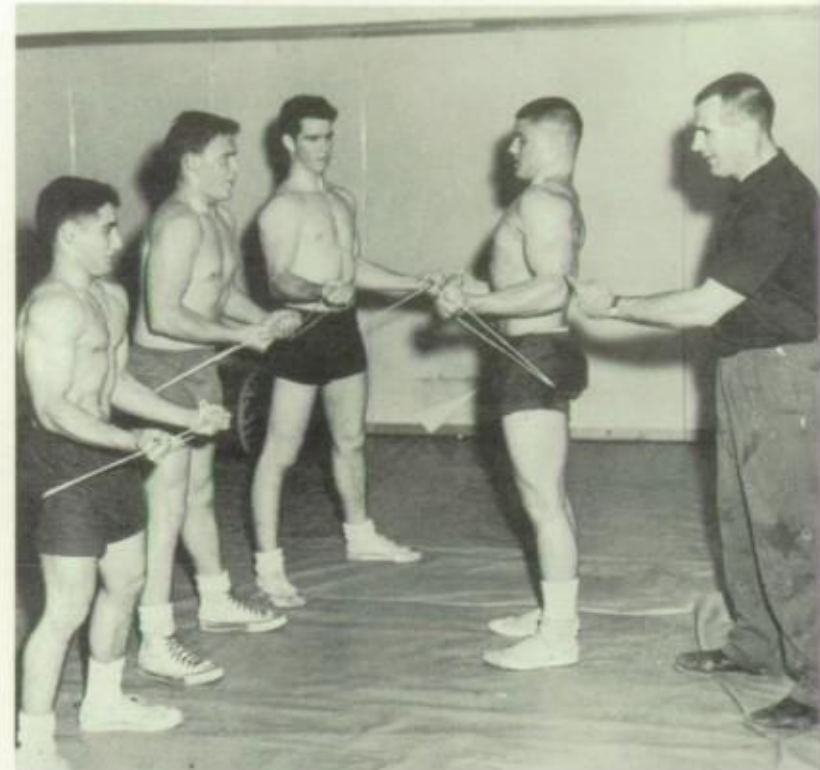

"Let's get to the bottom of things," says Horace Fox, as he jacks up a car in auto shop. William Miner is ready to place supports under the raised auto.

P.E. Departments Help To Develop

"Lift those weights, pull those muscles," is the theme these boys use in weightlifting. Most of these weights are 150 lbs. and some weigh even more.

Mr. Klootwyk observes as Gale Bucciarelli develops his "already mighty" muscles. Charlie Wollak, Jack Kulak, and Wayne Johnson also work in isometrics.

The boys in the background learn the techniques of wrestling by watching Rich Carpenter and Joe Derosa in Mr. Bell's gym class.

"Pull, stretch, and develop those muscles," says Mr. Klootwyk as he and the boys work in isometrics. This course is part of the weightlifting program.

AT LEFT: The boys in Mr. Lexsell's class work out on the track. Only 50 more laps, boys!

A student in Mr. Meyer's gym class does a shoulder stand on the parallel bars. The rest of the class eagerly await their turns.

Physical Fitness, Proficiency, And Dexterity

Although this is their first year of gym, these sophomores execute an intricate stunt in Mrs. Dawson's tumbling class.

Without scenery and through body expressions, these sophomores portray a Christmas story in Miss Thalrose's modern dance class. Mrs. Makeever is at the piano.

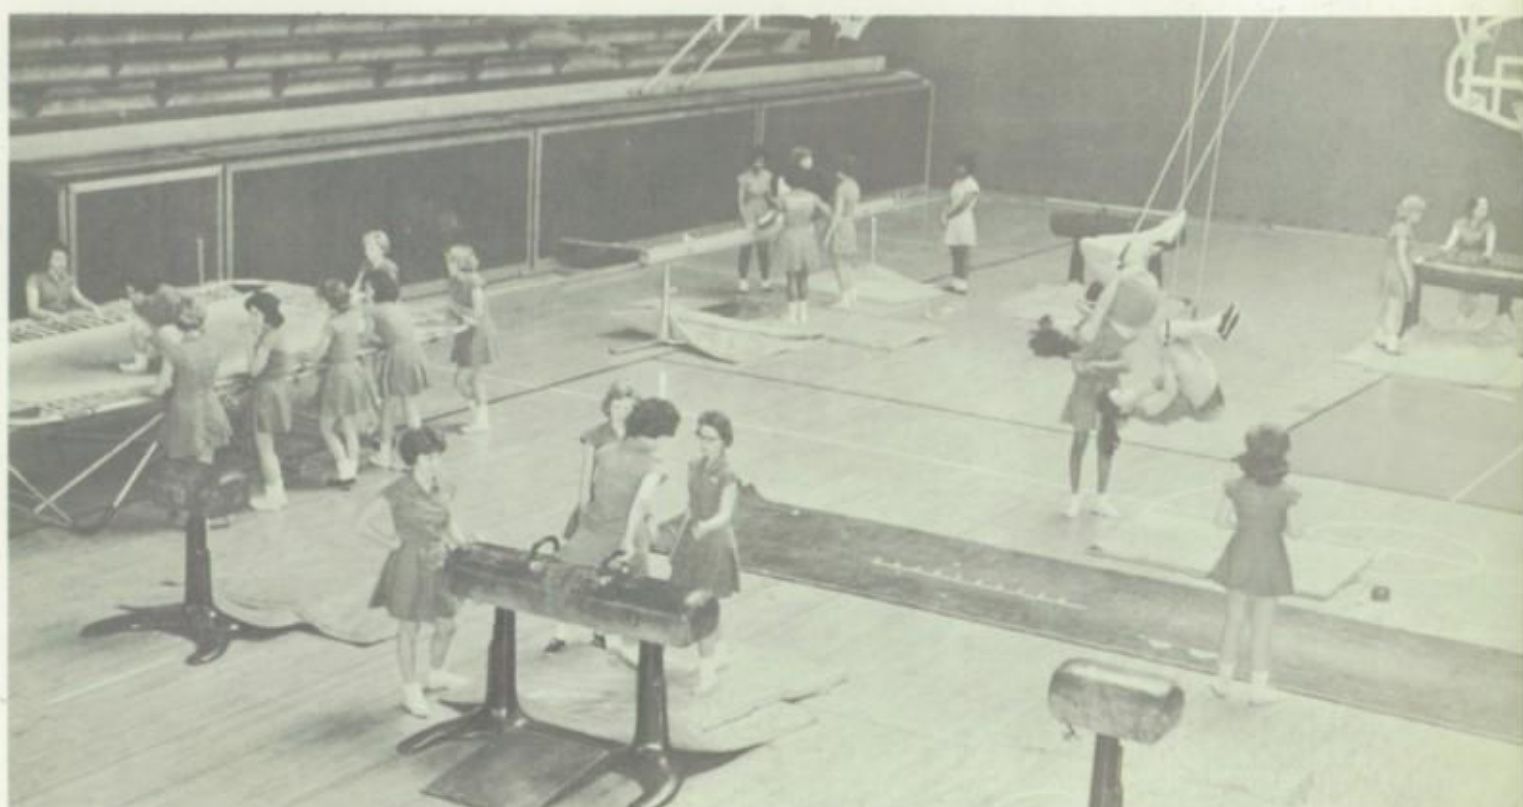

"Extend and lunge," is the command given to the girls on the left by Mrs. Firlus in a junior fencing class.

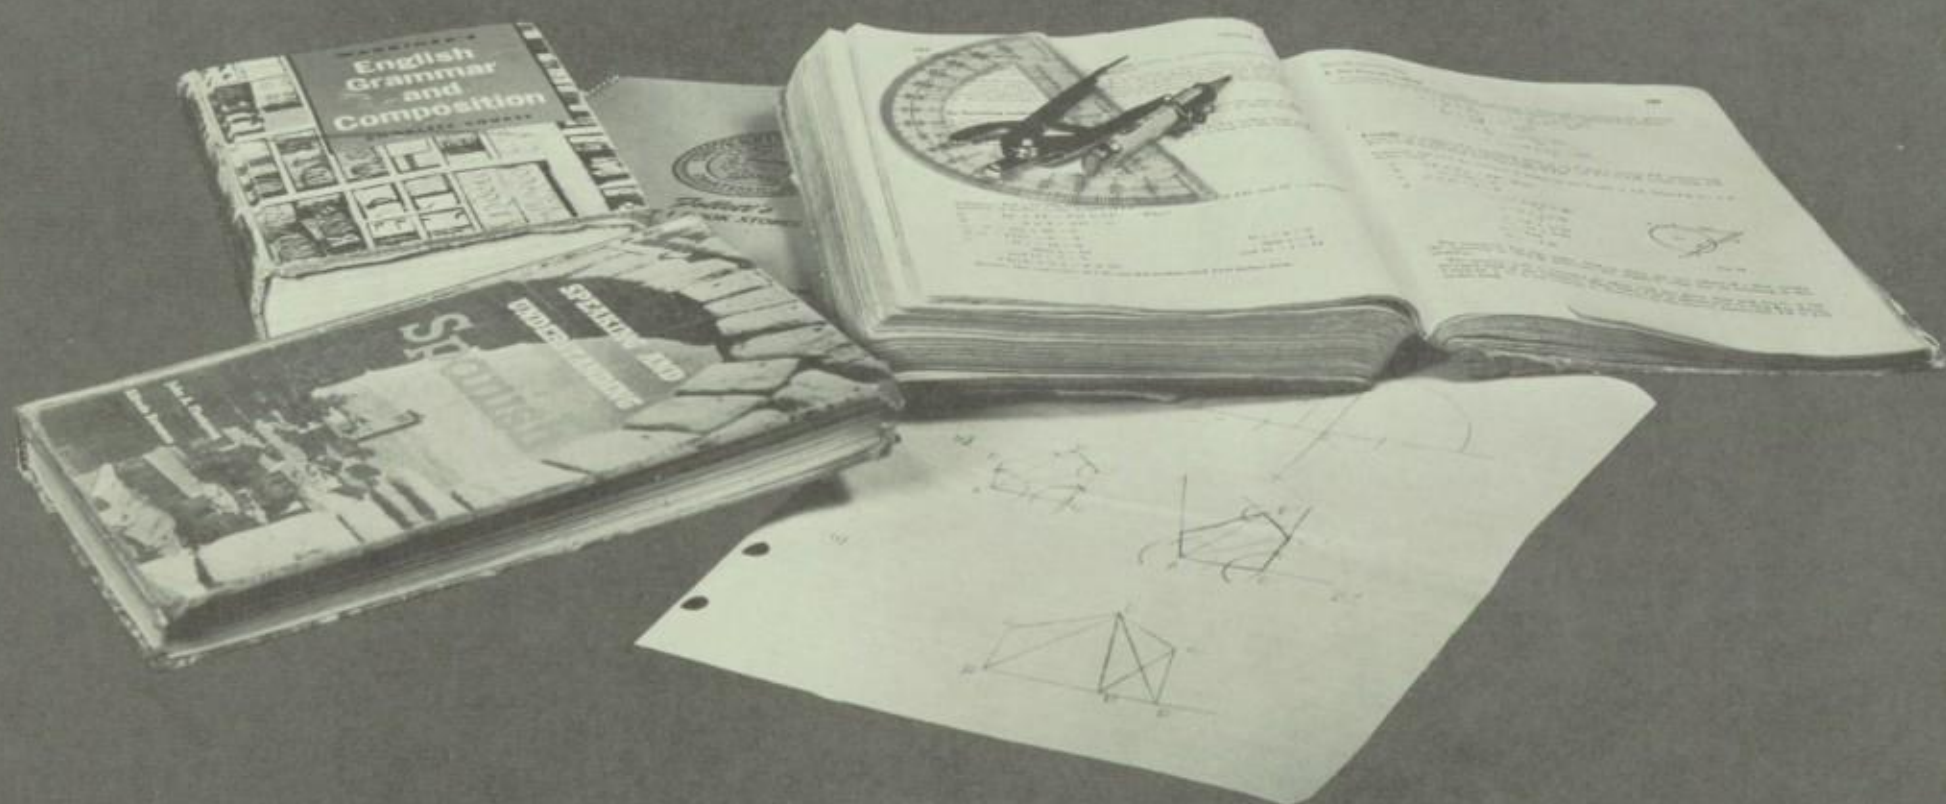

Mrs. Hoffer observes as juniors Judy Reed and Nancy Strappazon practice home care on patient Sue Sharp in Home Nursing class.

Pat Wagner does a fine side vault over the horse with the help of the mini-tramp.

Besides practicing and performing on equipment these seniors must maintain safety by "spotting" in apparatus.

Freshmen Have A Weary Lot

Eileen Farrell finds that there is more to the delicate art of opening a locker than using the right combination.

Valerie Stephen, typical of the freshman who is overcome by the mighty traditions which surround life at JT, gazes in awe at the mighty steelman.

The Freshman

Behold the Freshman, swamped with books!
He heeds not teacher's dirty looks.
We hardly ever see him smile.
We gaily trip him in the aisle.

The Freshman has a weary lot.
But I know one thing good he's got:
He knows his freshman year won't dim
The rotten years ahead of him.

—Tom Bojeski

Miss Tracy explains some of the finer points of library procedure to freshman library assistant Mary Ann Peterson.

"Phew!" High school's rigorous schedule is temporarily too much for freshman Jane Fricke. She takes a moment to rest in an unusual, but comfortable, "lounge."

Toby, Good luck next year. We had much fun in Social Studies and in Algebra. Remember the Tri Hi Y

Mr. Thompkins explains an interesting point to freshman earth science student, Dean Burtch. Earth science, though no longer a required course, is still being taken by many freshmen.

Swimming party? Oh Boy!

*Dean Burtch
"64"*

Freshmen soon learn that the use of the library is essential to their learning. JT is fortunate in having two libraries, one of which is especially designed for freshmen. Here students can get information on any course they might be taking. The quiet tranquility of the library is not only conducive to study, but is also an incentive to students to learn and to enjoy the many facilities of the library.

Sophomores Grow In Stature

"What do you mean, where's my pass? You lowly sophomores should have a license just to speak to me." Lyn Thorson's attitude reflects the somewhat snobbish air the seniors sometimes display toward underclassmen.

After all, the first three years of high school may be called a testing ground for future senior "sophisticates." Pictured with Lyn are sophomore monitors Judy Barringer and Lynne Minarich.

The Sophomore

The Sophomore thinks he is grown-up.
Though he is low, he's looking up.
His eyes are fixed, his will is clear,
His soul is brave his second year.
Now, high school people (age of two)
Are conscious of the thing to do.
If it is wrong, we cannot scold.
(Oh, well! He's only two years old!)

— Tom Bojeski

Cheryl Schmidt, though hard as she tries, does not exactly convey the big sister image to sophomore Sue Wehrspahn. What she lacks in height, however, she makes up for in counseling ability. With her four years of experience, Cheryl is well qualified to counsel Sue on her high school problems.

Beware! New driver on the road! But all is safe here as sophomore students participate with others in simulated driving practice. "Behind the wheel" training is a course which many sophomores elect to take.

Sophomores Acquire Varied Skills

Mr. Gray explains the use of a protractor to Linda Archer and Dave Lynch, Geometry I students. Although geometry is not a required subject, most students elect to take it in their sophomore year.

Sophomore speech students listen attentively as presiding officer Janet Irvin brings up the next point for discussion. Miss Wood looks on as beginning speech students learn the correct facets of parliamentary procedure.

Sophomore biology students listen as Mr. Allen makes his point. Biology is a subject to which most students look forward with some degree of skepticism. However, most students thoroughly enjoy their year of "cutting up" in biology.

The quiet and tranquil atmosphere in the study hall provides a place where students may complete a great deal of their homework. Most sophomores spend a part of their day in Room 273, the sophomore study hall.

Junior Class Officers

Nancy Strappazon, Junior Class vice-president, when not involved in an important class project, is caught on occasion engaging in one of her favorite pastimes. As one can see, her friendly smile gains her many friends including the four legged animal variety.

Even relaxing, Bill Andrews assumes the position of a dignified leader. Being president of the Junior Class isn't all reading and speech making, for, occasionally, Bill takes time out for just plain fun.

Note taking is a major part of Carol Hrivnak's job as secretary of the Junior Class. As her feather pen symbolizes, Carol adds a touch of feminine flavor to the meetings.

Talking is one of Bob Galle's greatest talents. Bob has amazing persuasive powers. His ability to talk well was a great asset as he went about his job of putting social events onto the year's calendar. The Junior Class was wise in selecting "Gabby" Galle as boy's social chairman.

A satisfied smile is the expression on JoAnne Stefanich's face. This is so because she has managed the finances of the Junior Class so well. At last, she has time to relax, forget about money, and play the piano. (She's probably playing "Pennies from Heaven.")

Is that Hedda Hopper? No, at second glance one can see it's Sally Huey, girl's social chairman. But like Hedda, Sally is busy keeping track of the social events of the Junior Class. Also, like Hedda, she manages to find time to choose a beautiful hat.

High school students are known as notoriously weird eaters. Here Junior Darlene Koenig is holding a typical Junior type lunch—cokes, french fries, and hamburgers.

The Junior

The Junior really knows the score.
He finds the under-class a bore.
His teachers seem a little dull,
For he is intellectual.

He finds his studies so much silt.
His sum mistakes are strongly built.
He misconstrues the world of men
Again and again and again and again.

—Tom Bojeski

College is an important thought in the minds of many Juniors at J.T. Class counselors help students to complete their educational plans after high school graduation. Here Kay Booras, with the aid of Mr. Howard, Junior Class Counselor, is trying to pick an appropriate college.

Today They Follow; Tomorrow They Lead

Dr. William C. French, superintendent of Joliet Township High School, congratulates Margaret Converse, a senior, on her achievement award from the National Council of Teachers of English. Miss Catherine Adler, chairman of the JTHS English department, is a left.

The Daughters of the American Revolution, an annual award given to a senior girl, was received by Sharon Nippert this year. Selection by the senior counselors and Miss Helen Mahany, dean of women, was based on dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. Presenting the award is Mrs. Callen, a representative of the DAR.

Each year one boy and one girl from their class are presented the Adams award, which is based on scholastic averages. Students who have received the award in the Class of '64 are, (seated), Linda Kroll, sophomore year, 97.1; junior year, 97.1; Martha Katzin, freshman year, 99.0; sophomore year, 98.4; junior year, 97.4; Lyn Thorsen, junior year, 96.8; and (standing), Earl Kinmonth, sophomore year, 97.4; Mike Long, freshman year, 96.5; Phil Kouhouckos, junior year, 96.7.

This Is Who Is Who

Although he is not the stereotyped "bookworm," Paul Mott is a substantial scholar and approaches school with a businesslike attitude. Work with the student council has given Paul an exposure to the executive approach and he has exhibited definite qualities in his office as president of the council.

As the last graduating class of Joliet Township High School at the single building, the editors of the "J of 64" are once again proud to pay tribute to the outstanding seniors. Due to their pronounced leadership qualities in school there is little doubt that they will maintain this attribute in the future. Thus, set down on these pages are the exemplary figures who do so much to create the proper school image for their successors who hope to follow in their footsteps.

Out of the livery of a ranking officer, Morrie Maitland takes on the appearance of the average teenage boy, and, sometimes, his activities take on characteristics of the menial sort—like tending an outdoor fire place. However, his status as a person takes on prominence when he dons his uniform which sports the two diamonds signifying the rank of a Cadet Lt. Col. and he assumes command of the ROTC Battalion.

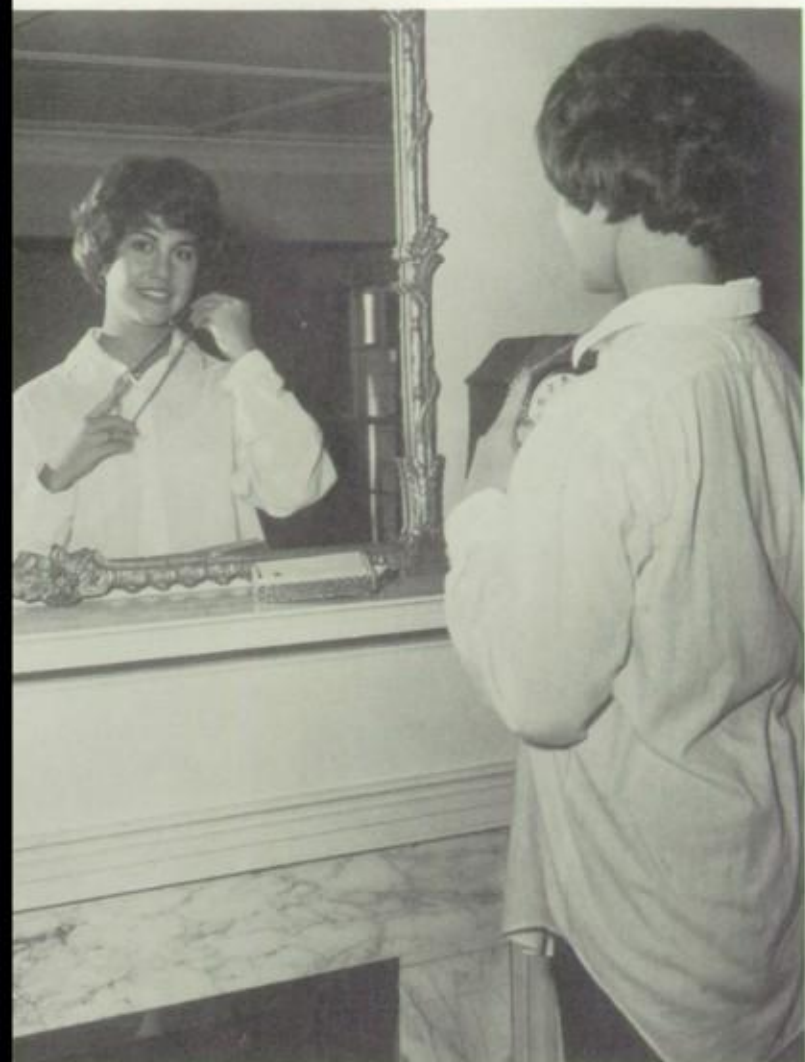

A pattern is anything proposed or designed for imitation—that's Mary Ellen Benac; a pattern is anything fit to be copied—that's Mary Ellen; a pattern is a model from which things are made—so's Mary Ellen; a pattern is a form or figure used in decoration—and that's really M.E. and maybe because she fits the pattern she's also JT's golden girl—the gold band sponsor.

Here's a young lady who's always "on." She's performing when she's on stage; she's enacting when she's rehearsing; she's executing when she's singing; she's even acting when she's conversing informally—she's Janice Tonelli, one of the best singers and actresses in the modern JT era.

In The Senior Class

Helen Fricke, who began acting in her sophomore year, has sparkled in the many roles she has played here at JT. Helen not only played the leading role in the all-school play, "Lute Song" (1961) but she acted as our foreign exchange student to Iran last summer. As a blue band sponsor, Helen displays a serene sort of charm admired by all.

Self assurance, personal composure, and a zest for life are attributes for which most high school senior girls would settle. Linda Bolling has them in abundance. With her sparkling personality and scrubbed good looks, Linda becomes the typical All-American girl. Another thing that makes her special is her cheerleading, an art which she has perfected over the years.

A vivacious carrot-top, Charla Denton, is the ROTC Battalion Sponsor, and, who knows but what she got the position because she is a vivacious carrot-top—after all, the ROTC is composed mostly of boys and you know how boys like vivacious carrot-tops. Incidentally, that guitar has nothing to do with her being a vivacious carrot-top.

Smith Cady is a big man in the band. His intelligence, good nature, and adeptness at wit stand him in good stead with the rest of the band boys who elected him president of the organization. Smitty, a talented musician, disproves a notion that a leader who does his job well is not necessarily well liked.

Students Who Will

President of the National Thespians, Dave Boettcher always seems to be "hamming it up." The way he swings on the drums and sways on the stage, JT can use him, ham a little or "Ham-a-lot."

Amongst his many trophies, Bill Sudakis, a top athlete of JT, still manages to "outshine" all of them. If Bill continues in the groove he has cut during his four years at JT, it is likely there will be many more trophies added to the collection.

She knew we were coming so she baked a cake. We just got there a little early and caught her with her hand in the batter. Sharon Williams is equally at home shuffling utensils in the kitchen or shuffling copy in the year book office—she's the chief editor of this year book, you know.

Naturally journalistic minded, Peri Potter is literally "all wrapped up" in newspapering. But a Journal chief editor's life is not always "beer and skittles." She is consulted by her staff, insulted by her readers—what resulted?—frustration. She's criticized by her adviser, minimized by her teachers, and eulogized by her fans, and was once rewarded for her efforts by a clomp on the chops by her severest critic (and pet), old Bismarck.

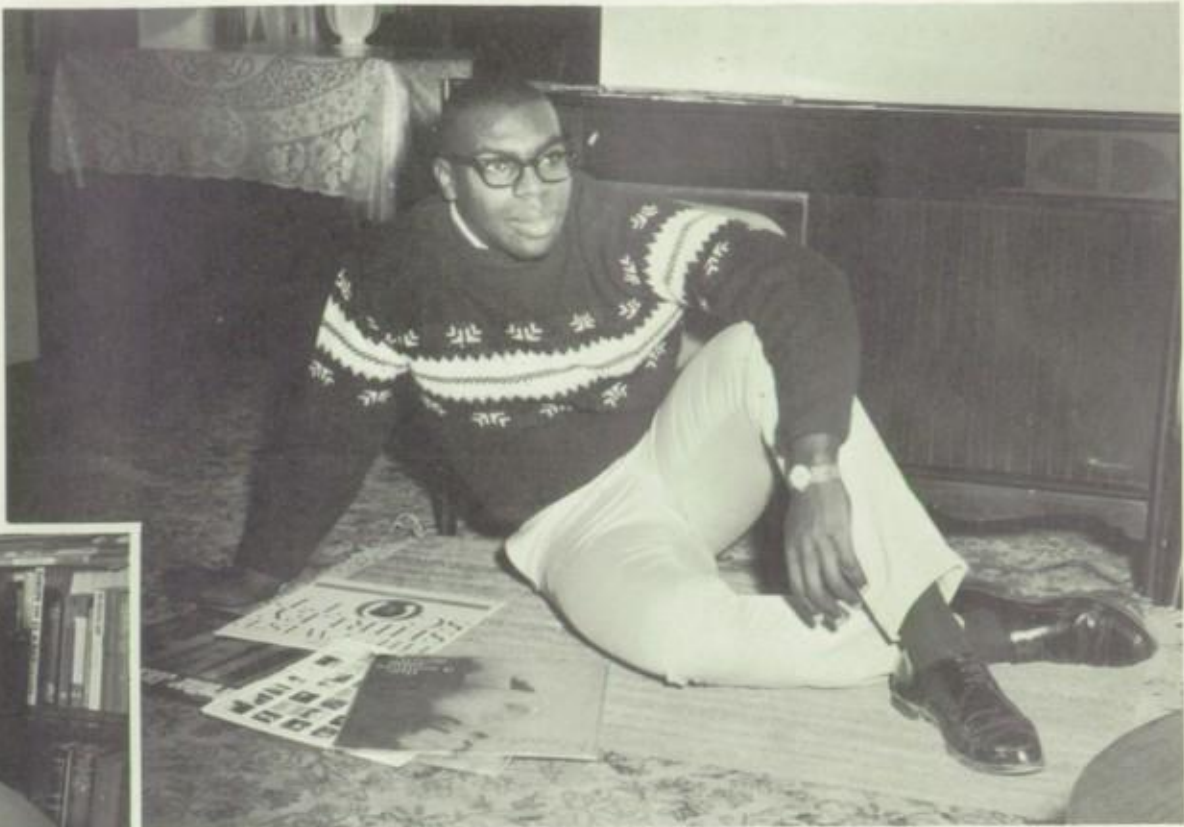

Leave The Wood Pile Just A Little Higher

Unfortunately, most high schoolers feel gifted if they have a single track mind—if they knit, they knit—if they read, they read—and never the twain shall meet—Martha Katzin operates smoothly on two, or even three, tracks—she can knit one, pearl two, read Balzac and never drop a stitch or miss a verbal gem. Martha's numerous scholastic awards is proof positive of her intellectual status.

Reminiscing through a treasury of "J's" is Pat Bussey, last of a long line of Bussey girls active at JT. Aside from being co-prom chairman (1963), Pat is active in Boosters Club, and Tri-Hi-Y.

His majesty reclines while enjoying the music of his favorite singers. For JT's "dynamo of the football field," this is an unusual position. Aside from being a leading Joliet athlete, Charlie Winters was elected as Joliet's first Homecoming King.

This seems to be an unlikely pose for the president! But then, physical fitness is the latest for leaders. Getting ready for a summer of skiing, Ken Angus proves that a good leader is a well-rounded one with a wide variety of interests.

Exchange Students Help Link A

Alice Arnaldo

"This seems to be an accepted world-wide custom," says Alice, as she assists Rosemary in washing the dishes. This was one of her duties in her Philippine home, so she's well oriented on the matter.

Of course, studying is supposed to be Alice's primary obligation while in Joliet, but studying being studying, it's an effort to appear like she's enjoying it.

Never before had Alice Arnaldo, of Roxae City, Philippines, left her homeland. Now thousands of miles from home, she is staying in the home of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Harold Patton and their daughter, Rosemary.

At school Alice is active in several extracurricular activities such as Student Council, A Cappella Choir, and AFS.

When she returns home, she plans to enter college, where she will work for a degree of Bachelor of Science and Commerce.

In a more relaxed mood, Alice seems amused by one of the most popular entertainment media—television. Her new found friend finds Alice more intriguing than the program.

Chain Of Global Friendship

Gabriel Catz-Alagon

Residing with Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cheville is Gabriel Catz-Alagon, a student from Montivideo, Uruguay.

Gabe, who plans to study architecture, is a student of diverse interests. Here in the United States he belongs to a swim team, AFS, A Cappella Choir, and Student Council.

In Uruguay, Gabe lives with his parents and a sister, Lidia, who attends a pre-medical college.

The John P. Cheville family and Gabe; Seated: Gabe, Jan. Standing: Jay, Mr. Cheville, and Mrs. Cheville.

Another activity besides dating introduced to Gabe was hunting. Jay is shown here explaining to Gabe about the parts of a rifle. Army style field stripping is Gabe's next step.

It is not all work for exchange students. As one can see here, Gabe has acclimated to an American custom of late home coming after a date. Chances are good he'll soon be advised of "Mother" Cheville's opinion on the subject.

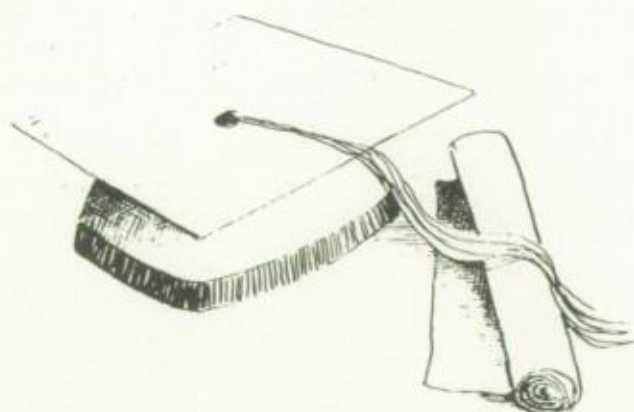

Midnight snacking is a ritual with many teenagers. Gabe and Jay indulge themselves on occasion.

Graduation Terminates Students' High School Careers

The Ivy Day Ceremony is an essential part of each graduation. Ivy Day is the ceremony at which the graduating senior class dedicates ivy to be planted in their remembrance. It is one of the oldest traditions and most reverently observed of graduation activities at JT.

But Marks Institution Of Limitless Opportunities

Dr. William C. French is shown here congratulating Tom Bojeski, the Senior Class Poet. On the right is Sharon Williams, the alternate for Class Poet.

Paul Mott, Commencement Speaker for the Class of '64, and the alternate, Dave Boettcher, are shown here with Miss Catherine Adler, chairman of the English department.

The graduates march past the traditional line of Honor Guides as they enter the stadium to receive their diplomas and end their high school careers.

Student Council Narrows The Gap Between

Paul Mott, president

Georgene Savich, vice-president

Bonnie McQueen, secretary

The Student Council, through the assistance of its sponsor, Mr. W. W. Johnson, and the members elected from each class, has accomplished many activities to the satisfaction of the administration and the student body.

Some of its activities include a mid-term dance, held February 8, a "Peanuts for Polio" drive, held in January, the publications of a monthly schedule of school social events, and providing guides for freshmen step-up day.

Joyce Crowther, treasurer

Students representing the senior class at the student council meetings are Pennie Gardner, Cheryl Schmidt, Judy Kurbis, Gabe Catz, Janice Tonelli, Bonnie Barnes, Georgene Savich, Ken Angus, Bruce Brooke, Paul Mott, Rich Duncan.

The Student Body And The Administration

Sophomores who bring the ideas from their class to the student council meetings are Sue Fox, Pam Overton, Sue Arnold, Larry Kubinski, Sherry Pozzi, Leslie Bonn, Dean Zeich, Linda Archer, Sue Wehrspann, Robert Geist.

Rick Duncan calls February 8th to Sue Rudman's attention as the date of the student council's mid-term dance.

That mistaken smile of Cheryl Schmidt is actually an expression of strain. Participating in the Student Council-Key Club Peanut Sale, Cheryl hauls the boxes for distribution.

Newcomers at the Joliet Township High School were greeted at the opening session by the Student Council Guides who assisted them in finding their classes and in making their way around the school. Among the upper classmen who extended "helping hands" were (from left) Pam Overton, Linda Archer, Sue Fox and Joyce Crowther.

For the second year in succession, the Joliet Chapter swept the Future Farmers of America's Parliamentary Procedure Contest. The Joliet team, composed of Chairman Brent Lingle, Secretary Allen Schleeter, and floor members Rance Roofner, Bill White and Ed Hollister, tallied a dynamic total of 356 points. Brent Lingle, as chairman, received 119 points and Rance Roofner, as the head floor member of the contest, scored 73 points, and, along with support from the other floor members, helped Joliet to soundly trounce the other seven teams in the contest. For their winning efforts, the team was presented with a banner to display in their chapter room. Pictured in the first row are Ed Hollister and Allen Schleeter, secretary. Standing, in the back row, are Bill White, Rance Roofner, and Brent Lingle, president.

"Featherbedding" even exists in high school "commerce." Here's a case of too many generals and not enough soldiers "working" on Key Club banquet table. The two "generals" on either end, Jim DeWitt and John Moore at least look like they're working. The "generals" stretching the ribbon are Dick Blogg, Bruce Brooke, Doug Arnold and Larry Woldt.

Among the Key Clubbers who assisted in the Key Club-Student Council Peanut Sale were Jim DeWitt, Don Hazen, Doug Arnold and Bruce Brooke. Their efforts were rewarded by a net sale of $1,644.21 which was donated to the March of Dimes.

Members of Key Club and their "working guests" put the finishing touches on their Homecoming float.

The world renowned band of the Joliet Township High School has spent its final year as a single organization. With the erection of two new high schools, Joliet West and Joliet East, a musical era has come to a regrettable, but gratifying, close. Next fall there will be separate bands functioning at each building.

Credit for the inception of the band is given to A. R. McAllister. He began the JT band in 1912 and continued as director until his death thirty-two years later. The band still honors him with a solemn march with a muffled drumbeat to the cemetery.

Through the years the band has enjoyed a well deserved reputation. One of the many highlights of its achievements came in 1926, 1927, and 1928 when the symphonic group gained the possession of the National Championship Trophy.

Mr. Bruce Houseknecht
Director of Bands

Rich Koenig
Quartermaster

Don Totter
Student Conductor

In 1945, the band's second and only other director, Bruce Houseknecht, assumed leadership of the world famous musicians. Mr. Houseknecht has conducted the band through many honorable and memorable performances. Throughout 1963-64 the band has retained its outstanding, and, now, almost traditional, position.

This year's band activities included the winter concert held on February 9, 1964, the annual Home Show in April, and the yearly Band Dinner-Dance. Following graduation in June the Joliet High Band will journey to the World's Fair in New York and make a repeat appearance at Freeport, New York, for its final trip as the unified Joliet Township High School Band.

Tri-Hi-Y Stresses Service To Others In The Community

The practice of companionship is a desirable application of youth. The high school years, which tend to bridge childhood and adulthood, are the formative years. It, therefore, can be an important phase of the growing-up process—to share the experience and joys and tribulations with a homogeneous group while adjusting to each other and society.

"Pure thoughts, pure words, pure actions . . ."—

this is the creed of the Tri-Hi-Y, a character-building association for high school girls. For these girls, Tri-Hi-Y is an outlet for discussing ideas and thoughts. It fulfills their need for serving the community. It also provides a variety of social activities. Most important, it provides an opportunity for one to develop "high standards of Christian character" as one matures.

Booster Club Sparks Spirit Of JT

Charged with the responsibility of successful Booster Club meetings are the officers, Ken Angus, Pat Bussey, Margie Troughton and Ken Parker. Mr. Parker and Mr. Keinen, standing behind, are co-sponsors of the club.

Besides the bolstering of school spirit and enthusiasm, Booster Club presents an opportunity for amateur talent to perform for an appreciative audience. Because the talent is required to be as top rate as the athletic teams, tryouts are arranged before the amateur performers appear. School sports events and activities are promoted regularly at the weekly meetings.

Alice Arnaldo, Helen Fricke, Mr. Trahan, Gabe Catz-Alagon appeared on Booster Club to launch the promotion of the American Field Service fundraising drive.

Taking a break after their performance for Booster Club are Ron Bucciarelli, Dave Gruber and Bob Galle.

"We're From Joliet And Couldn't Be Prouder . . ."

Varsity cheerleaders' smiles prophesy confidence in the outcome of the Steelmen's Homecoming game. They were right—JT beat Thornton 34-0. The cheerleaders are: FIRST ROW: Kathy Allen, Linda Bolling, captain. SECOND ROW: Lynette Hertz, Maureen Bailles, Linda Anderson, and Bonnie Jenkins.

Those coordinated gyrations performed by the girls comprising the three squads of cheerleaders are not as simple and easy as they are made to look. The girls will attest to this. Without our cheerleaders, the athletic contests at which these girls perform, would be less colorful and less fun. Of course, games would still be played and the athletic program would be just as well developed, but we choose to think that the tremendous effort exerted by these girls to spark enthusiasm is really appreciated and the games just wouldn't be the same without them.

In typical "uniformity" style (during a rare subdued moment) JT's Frosh-Soph Cheerleaders "freeze" momentarily so we can tell what they really look like. During action at athletic contests the girls' continuous gyrations sometimes produce blurred images which obscures individual identity. They are Linda Lamberson, Leslie Bonn, Kathy Johnston, Judy Ritter, Lee Ann Harrington, and Cindy Klotwyk, captain.

Clubs Exist For The Benefits Derived From Them

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA: Representing their club are the officers: Judy Rolawdo, historian; Gigi Charlstrom, secretary; Cindy Maren, vice-president; Lynne Zoleske, president; Miss Verble, sponsor; Charles Benson, treasurer; Mr. Crum, sponsor.

Students Varied Interests Find Outlet In J.T. Organizations

Members of the National Forensic League, an honorary speech organization for high school students, are FIRST ROW: Wally Sippel, Linda Kroll, Carol Larson. SECOND ROW: Margaret Converse, Larry Agazzi, Linda Kier. THIRD ROW: Margaret Leinin, Ken Palmer, Frank Ninos, Mr. Paul Johnson, sponsor. BACK ROW: George Day. NFL has had a chapter at JT since 1959.

Sheila Kinnery, member of the JT News Bureau staff, looks over the many newspaper articles concerning JT's activities which she has written for local papers. The news bureau staff is responsible for publicizing all JT activities through the media of the commercial press and radio.

This year's Blue and Gold staff, which publishes JT's annual literary magazine, consists of Tom Bojeski, Carol Larson, Susan Richards, Ron Thelo, Carole Leuthner (chief editor), Cindy Michaels, and Linda Kroll. Ron Thelo demonstrates what happens to material which doesn't measure up to the magazine's set standards.

Students have spoken before adult audiences at school and other places in the community. Also, students are admitted to membership by having participated in inter-school speech and debate activities. The league sponsors a speech and debate tournament at the state level and a national tournament each summer.

National Honor Society is an organization whose members are chosen by teachers who feel the students are qualified in four aspects: character, scholarship, leadership, and service. Representing the club are its officers: Pam Haynes, secretary; Sharon Nippert, treasurer; Daryl Alderson, president; Mike Bowser, vice-president.

Journalistically-Minded Students Advance

"BILL! The deadline was yesterday. When are you ever going to turn a story in on time?" Peri Potter, editor-in-chief of the J-Hi Journal, reminds Bill Sudakis, sports editor, of a deadline gone by.

Bill Simonich, editorial editor of the Journal, conjures up a typical Simonich-type editorial: thought-provoking, witty and unusual.

Judy Perrine, news editor of the J-Hi Journal, thumbs through a selection of insert magazines as Sandy Terpstra, business manager, makes up a lay-out sheet for the advertisements which are to appear in an upcoming issue of the Journal.

Aarone Cohen, circulation manager of the J-Hi Journal, prepares recent issues of the paper for distribution, while Margene Whilter, feature editor, rings the photography lab, to schedule a picture for her section.

In Various Fields Of Mass Communication

Editor-in-chief of this year's "J" was Sharon Williams. Jane Schiek, art editor, was responsible for the creation of the yearbook's division pages and other art work throughout the book. Darlene Koenig organized the work for the girls' sports section, while Kay Booras handled the social events. Persuading teachers to pose in front of a camera fell to Marianne Trippon, while Russ Thontlin and Bill Lucky co-edited the boys' sports pages. Lyn Thorsen had the job of academic editor which covered a variety of classroom situations. Sharon Nippert's duty consisted of the organization of the underclass section, while praise for the senior section was due to Rose Astorino. In charge of handling the various school clubs was Sue Kuhar, and the headache of financial problems went to Judy Lutz. Binetta Riddle provided some of the copy writing.

Bill Lucky and Russ Thontlin take a brief time out of their busy schedule for a session of Indian wrestling. Indian wrestling? Well, they're sports editors, aren't they?

Journalism adviser George R. Denison finds Kay Booras and Sharon Williams, two of the "J"'s editors, working hard on a page for Kay's section. Now, seeing as Mr. Denison has a "weapon" in his hand, do you blame them?!

As Lyn Thorsen, academic editor, prepares a lay-out sheet for production, Darlene Koenig, girls' sports editor, and Rose Astorino, senior class editor, skim through past yearbooks to glean ideas for their sections.

Marianne Trippon, faculty editor, lends a "helping hand" to Judy Lutz, business manager, during the day of the final yearbook payment deadline. Sharon Nippert, underclass editor, searches for the correct spelling of a freshman's name.

Binetta Riddle prepares some copy for a page as Jane Schiek and Sue Kuhar seek advice as to which picture would be more appropriate for use on an organization layout.

Homecoming "Those

Resulting from the efforts of Mr. W. W. Johnson, the Student Council, and the student body, the Homecoming of 1963 was one of the most successful at J.T. The weekend began Thursday night, Oct. 3 with a bonfire. The king, queen, and court were announced at this time. Charles Winters and Judy Kurbis were named King and Queen. The Court included Janice Tonelli, Senior; Sue Sharp, Junior; Angie Costa, Sophomore; Diane Heinlen, Freshman. Friday's activities included a pep assembly, parade, and a victorious football game against Thornton. The weekend was climaxed by the dance, "Those Wonderful Years," on Saturday night.

Judy Kurbis' radiant smile reflects her excitement after being crowned Homecoming Queen of 1963 by Paul Mott, President of the Student Council.

Mr. W. W. Johnson's careful guidance as sponsor of the Student Council was instrumental in making this year's Homecoming the success that it was.

"You Can't Take But You Will

The late 1930's was a time of impending world chaos with Germany's marching feet beginning to rattle the windowpanes that had already been well shaken by Japan. The economic status of our country was little better than the state of the world, for Wall Street was still groaning from the agonies of the late twenties, and we were in the throes of what we might term today as a depression.

Out of this "pleasant" atmosphere, it is somewhat typical that a nation which has always been able to laugh at itself should bring forth from the theater a play such as "You Can't Take it With You." Although its simple philosophy may not be adhered to by some—that life should be lived to its fullest regardless of the times—was to be evidenced during the holocaust of World War II.

The goal of this play was to make the audience laugh, to bring back memories, and to produce an evening of pleasurable entertainment. This production accomplished all these things and more.

Paul Sycamore (Dave Boettcher) seems to live in his own little world of firecrackers, cherry bombs, and smoke. Here he displays his favorite—the skyrocket.

For any production to be a success, much time and practice is required. Rehearsing a scene are: Janice Tonelli, who portrays Alice; Judy Reed, who plays Essie; Tom Bojeski, cast as Grandpa Vanderhof; and, Jeff Davis, who takes the part of Tony Kirby.

An integral part of dramatic productions is the scenery and backstage work. The backstage crew, though very essential, receives little recognition. Here they diligently complete the final details of the set.

It With You"

Always Remember It

Marie Baitenger

Marie began her dramatic career in grade school. In her freshman year she became a National Thespian. She has appeared in the "one acts," contest plays, and reached a climax by playing the leading role in "You Can't Take It With You."

Tom Bojeski

Tom began in drama in his sophomore year. It was then that he became a National Thespian. He has done a lot of work at the Totem Playhouse. He appeared in "Lute Song," "The Curious Savage" and climaxed his high school roles with the lead in "You Can't Take It With You."

Penny (Marie Baitenger) confides in Grandpa (Tom Bojeski) as he is the only one who agrees with her. She is his favorite daughter—the only one he has.

Tony (Jeff Davis) and Alice (Janice Tonelli) gaze with the adoring eyes that the part requires. Alice beams as Tony asks for her hand in marriage.

Essie (Judy Reed) and Ed (Ed Richards) seem to fall naturally into their parts as Essie practices her ballet and Ed accompanies her on the xylophone.

GAA Dance Highlights Twirp Season

Lyn Thorsen, Judy Osborn, Donna Price, and Terri Holland work diligently on the decorations which will transform the gym into a beautiful fairyland.

This year, as always, the G.A.A. Dance highlighted Twirp Season. During Twirp Season the girls enjoy the privilege of openly flirting with the boys, as well as asking them for dates and performing the common courtesies that the boys usually assume. The boys, of course, offer little resistance to this regal treatment. The theme of the dance, "Lollipops and Roses," was carried out by the decor in the gym. Through the tireless efforts of the G.A.A. members and their sponsor, Mrs. Kay Dawson, the dance, which took place on November 21, was very successful.

Hostesses Jean Smith and Guala Mayes serve Mary Archer and her escort, Bob Mahalik, at intermission.

This informal dance always draws large crowds which is plainly seen in this picture. By the satisfied expression on each face, it appears as though a good time is being had by all.

"Show Boat" Abounds With Talented Stars

Magnolia, portrayed by Janice Tonelli

Ravenel, portrayed by Russ Wunderlich

The presentation of last spring's musical comedy, "Show Boat," featured the talents of Janice Tonelli and Russ Wunderlich as the musical leads, and Sue Richards and Jeff Davis as the dramatic leads. The musical was presented by the A Cappella and general choirs under the direction of Mr. Roy Johnson.

Janice is a member of A Cappella Choir and has made many appearances before the student body and community as a soloist. She received superior ratings at state music contests.

Russ was the first Junior College student to participate in a high school production of this kind at J.T. His high school career included presidency of the A Cappella Choir, member of Madrigals for two years, and superior ratings at state music contests.

Sue is also a member of A Cappella Choir and Madrigals. She is a former president and student director of Sophomore Chorus. This was Sue's first major dramatic role in high school.

Jeff, a sophomore and the youngest of the four, is a newcomer to the stage and has shown great potential. Jeff is a sophomore member of A Cappella Choir and an active member of Thespians.

Hoves Into Port Stand At JT

Based on Edna Ferber's novel, "Show Boat" is considered to be one of the greatest musical works of the American theater. The story opens aboard the "Cotton Blossom" during the 1880's, moves to Chicago for several scenes, and returns for the final scenes aboard the riverboat in the year 1927. The play is centered around two love stories. One is the tale of the tragic and beautiful Julie and her husband, Steve; the other is the story of Magnolia, the lovely, young daughter of Captain Andy and Parthy, owners of the "Cotton Blossom." Magnolia marries the dashing Mississippi gambler, Gaylord Ravenel. The two are deeply in love, and though they suffer a heart-breaking absence of many years, they are reunited at the end of the play. The large cast includes: Ellie and Frank, who are in the showboat review, Queenie, the colored cook, Joe, her husband, and various dock workers.

This is the miscegenation scene where Vallon (Tom Anderson) has come to order Julie (Shirley Parish) and Steve (Jon McFarland) off the boat. Rubber Face (Greg Bennett) looks on.

Here comes the "Show Boat" parade! This is from the opening scene of the production.

The cast members relax? before the curtain rises with a friendly game of gin rummy.

Coronation Of "Miss J" Highlights

(Below) Unaware of the surprise which awaits her, Mary Archer comes toward the throne setting from which, in a few minutes, she will hear her name announced as "Miss J." Mary's escort is Jim Matichak.

Linda Hoeger, (second from left) a "Miss J" finalist, and her escort, Jack Dillon, advance toward the platform where "Miss J" will be announced. Assuming the honor of escorting the couples were Russ Thontlin, Sue Kuhar, and Kay Booras. This couple is being escorted by Russ Thontlin and Kay Booras.

Couples dance to the captivating music of Gene Victor's Orchestra. Taking advantage of the music to dance are (l to r) Ron Pozzi and Rose Astorino, and Doug Nelson and Cathy Hewitt.

"Here she comes..." "Miss J" of 1963, Sylvia Lundin, proceeds toward the throne upon which she will sit for the last time as "Miss J." Sylvia gleams with regal beauty as she is escorted by Bill Sudakis.

Student Council's Mid-Term Dance

Through the combined efforts of the Student Council and the yearbook staff, the mid-term dance, "Cupid's Capers," was very successful. The Student Council sponsors the dance itself, while the yearbook staff assumes all responsibility for the coronation of "Miss J". The "Miss J" contest begins with every senior girl who had her picture taken for the yearbook. From this field of approximately 350 girls, thirty-four semi-finalists were selected. From this group, twelve finalists were named. Pictures of each of the finalists were sent to Norman Ross, nationally known news analyst and television personality, who was to select a winner based on photogenic qualities. Sylvia Lundin, "Miss J" of 1963, announced and crowned Mary Archer, "Miss J" of 1964.

46th Annual Military Ball Climaxes "46 Years Of Service"

Taking a short break from the evening's festivities, Sandy McAllister, Denny Baudek, Sue Rudman, Linda Momson, Bruce McQueen, and Bill Ghenda pause for a round of friendly chatter and refreshments.

Right: "After the ball is over..." One more moment of the evening's enchantment is captured by these couples as they progress down the stairway. Lt. Col. Marrie Maitland escorts Sponsor Linda Steven, while Battalion Sponsor Charla Denton is escorted by Capt. Phil Kouchoukos.

Below: Lieutenant Colonel Morrie Maitland seems to be assuring Charla Denton, Battalion Sponsor, that she is truly the "belle of the ball."

The 46th annual Military Ball, sponsored by the R.O.T.C., was held April 10 in the gym. Decorations carried out this year's theme, "46 Years of Service." One of the highlights of the evening was the "arch of sabers" through which the sponsors, led by Charla Denton, Battalion Sponsor, passed. General chairman for the ball was Lieutenant Colonel Morris Maitland. Kieth Sweetwood was the assistant chairman. Music for the evening was provided by Buddy Everett's Orchestra.

"Ribbons and Beaux" was the theme of this year's "Femme's Fancy," sponsored by the Sophomore Chorus. This annual semi-formal dance is one of spring's social highlights. The Sophomore Chorus and its officers spend much time in preparation for this long anticipated dance. The officers are: Ina Powell, President; Jane Schiek, Vice President; Sandy Hinton, Secretary; Sally Huey, Treasurer; Louise Wilson, Librarian; and Joyce Crowther, Publicity Chairman.

The "Tunnel of Love" looks lonely as it seems to await the arrival of couples to occupy its benches.

Kay Bostrom and Lee Bettenhausen momentarily pause to prepare for a picture that will reflect memories in future years.

-An Enchanting Fairyland Of Merriment

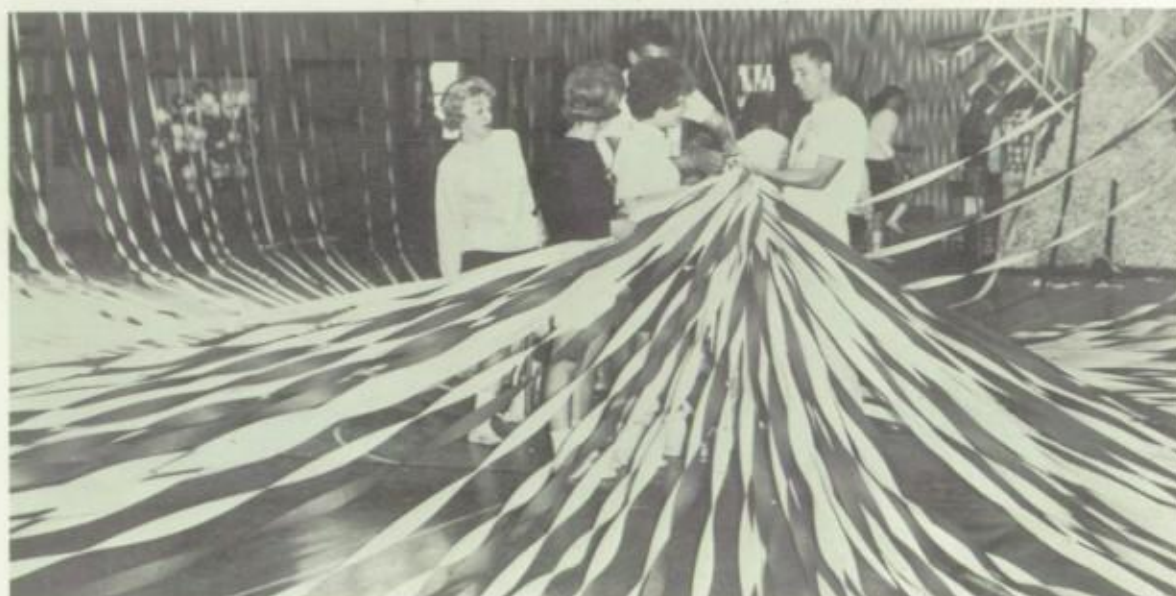

This is the "carousel" which will soon accomodate the band members who create the musical atmosphere for the evening.

This happy "clown" gradually takes shape as the decoration crew labors to create him.

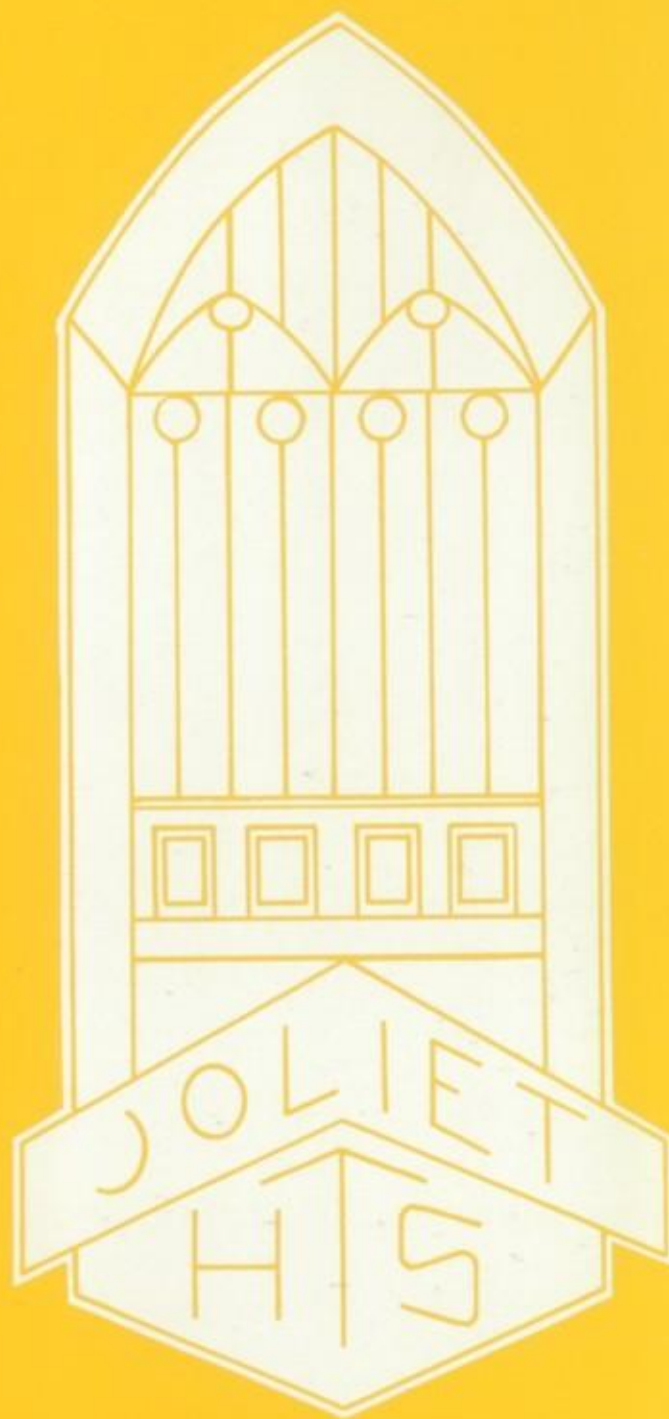

Most people "have a ball" during the ball and after the ball, but there are those who "have a ball" preparing for the ball. Decorations for any dance are a "must" and, what the heck, if people put their minds to it, if they can "have a ball" putting them up.

Steelmen's Victory Skein Extended To 25 Contests

Each fall marks the beginning of a new football season, and it was anticipated that the winning skein of 19 straight games would be continued at JT. Several lettermen returned and the squad was loaded with grid talent. By season's end the team had compiled a respectable 7-1-1 record, but the continuous win streak had been broken after 25 victories. The Steelmen came within two points of being undefeated and winning the third South Suburban League championship in four years.

The teams defense established a new school and conference record in which the opponents were limited to 95 yards per game, while the offense was rolling up an average of 310 yards per game.

The football program produced a promising group of juniors to carry on at their respective JT campuses the following year.

Checking equipment in the athletic department is one of the myriad duties with which Jim "Cat" Catarello is charged. His primary duty is acting as trainer for all JT and Junior College athletic units. Unofficially, "Cat" lends a sympathetic ear to troubles of all kinds and counsels "his boys" when they come to him with their problems.

coaches have worked well as a team for the past five years and their efforts have stimulated renewed interest in football at JT resulting in championship calibre squads.

Steelmen Manufacture Finest Brand Of Football

JT "STOMPS THE HILL"

Amidst a cloud of dust and the roar of over twelve thousand fans, Joliet Township's "Iron Avalanche" opened its 1963 football season with a 21-7 win over Joliet Catholic. Led by fullback Charlie Winters' 130 yards and 2 TDs, the Steelmen lengthened their unbeaten string to 20. Jim Nicholson accounted for the other Blue and Gold TD while Tom Tessiatore booted three consecutive extra points. Charlie Winters won the annual Caterpillar Sportsmanship Award for JT, and, for his outstanding performance, he was awarded the A. A. Stagg Award medal.

JOLIET 21—WEST AURORA 7

Joliet Township won its 21st straight football game by defeating West Aurora 21-7. Head Coach Ray Klootwyk's club once again relied heavily on 216 pound fullback Charlie Winters who scored two markers, and, on 13 carries, riddled the Blackhawks' defense for 146 yards. The other TD came on a 62 yard pass from Jim Randolph to Ben Waddell. Tom Tessiatore again converted three extra points. For his superb performance in offensive blocking and defensive play, Frank D'Atri received the A. A. Stagg Award medal.

Charlie Winters intercepts a pass which led to a touchdown in the 34 to 7 win over Argo.

An Argo halfback found the Joliet defense unyielding as he is being hauled down by guard Ken Piazza (54) as guard Frank D'Atri rushes up to help.

JOLIET 14—BLUE ISLAND 14

As the curtain raised on the South Suburban League title chase, a rugged Blue Island unit played the Steelmen to a 14-14 tie. Disaster struck when a swift Cardinal back carried the ball for a 88 yard TD. A fumble on the Steelmen's 5 yard line provided Blue Island with a second score. John Gates was awarded the A. A. Stagg Award medal for his excellent blocking and defensive play.

JT SMASHES THORNTON

Playing one of their finest games of the season, JT overpowered a scrappy Thornton eleven by a 34-0 count. Jim Randolph lead the scoring column with 2 TDs while Charlie Winters and Jim Nicholson each contributed one TD. Frank D'Atri forced Thornton's QB to let loose of the pigskin and the 172 pound senior guard grabbed hold of the ball and ran 43 yards to paydirt. Tom Tessiatore kicked four extra points. John Williams received the A. A. Stagg Award medal.

Jim Randolph evades a gang of Argo tacklers.

JOLIET WHIPS BLOOM

With hopes of the South Suburban League Championship very much alive, the "Iron Avalanche" toppled an undefeated Trojan team by the score of 41-6. Bloom drew first blood but the Steelmen broke the game wide open on a fumble recovery by junior tackle Delmar Miller who ran it for a 50 yard TD. Other markers were tallied by Gale Bucciarelli with 2 TDs, Nick Cookas, Jim Nicholson, and Len White with one marker each. Tom Tessiatore also chipped in 5 conversions. Bill Schwab won the A. A. Stagg Award medal on his brilliant defensive playing.

JOLIET TROUNCES KANKAKEE

The coach, team, pep, and steam proved too much for a winless Kankakee outfit to handle as the Steelmen rolled up 465 yards in their 35-0 victory. Charlie Winters scored 2 TDs with Jim Randolph, Jim Nicholson, and Jim Peterbok each scoring 1 TD. Tom Tessiatore kicked 5 conversions. Russ Thontlin received the A. A. Stagg Award medal for his outstanding performance at his halfback position.

Extra Effort, Hard Work Paves Victorious Way

JOLIET 12—LOCKPORT 14

Disaster struck as rival Lockport pulled off the state's biggest upset of the season. The loss ended the Steelmen's unbeaten string at 25 in a row. Charlie Winters and Jim Nicholson each scored one marker. Jim Nicholson received the A. A. Stagg Award medal for his performance.

Every effort is used by Kankakee tackler to bring down fullback Charlie Winters. End Gary Pierce (55) looks on helplessly.

JOLIET HALTS THORNBRIDGE

The Steelmen returned to the winning way by blanking Thornridge 28-0. Junior halfback Jim Nicholson starred for the Steelmen, his 14 "journeys" collecting 120 yards, including 2 TDs. Other TD runs were a 7 yard run by Gale Bucciarelli and a one yard plunge into paydirt by Jim Miller. Tom Tessiatore booted 4 extra points, topping his total of extra points to 25 out of 29 tries. The A. A. Stagg Award medal was awarded to Gale Bucciarelli for his brilliant offensive running and hard defensive work.

JOLIET 34—ARGO 7

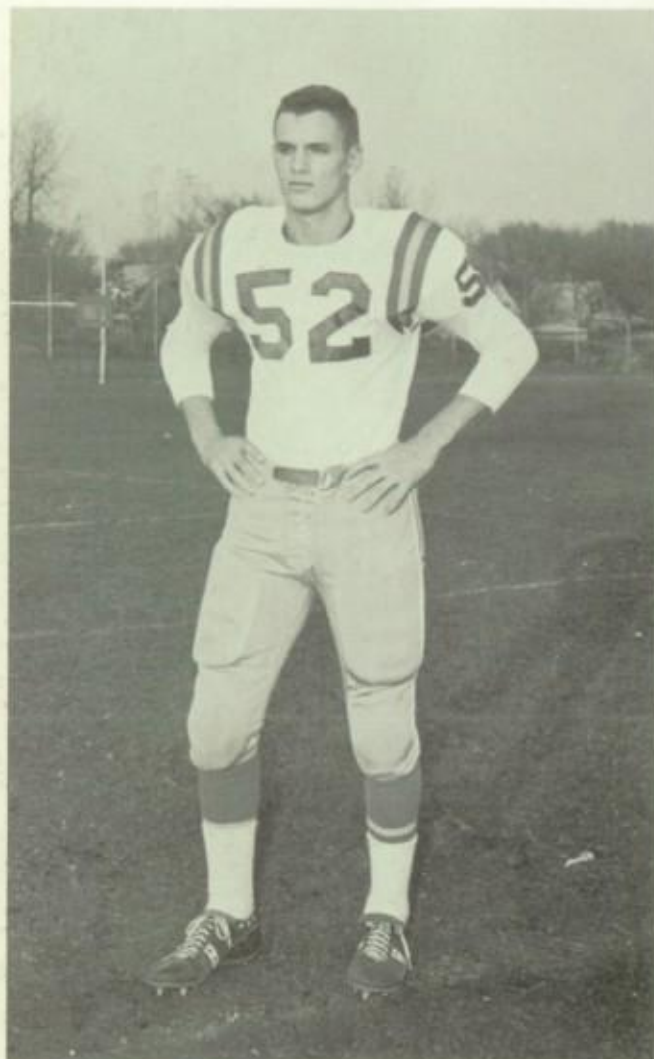

The end of a proud era came as Joliet Township closed with a 34-7 victory over Argo. With Coach Klootwyk alternating all-senior and all-junior units on offense in this finale, the Steelmen picked up a total of 424 yards for the night. Charlie Winters and junior fullback Wayne Johnson scored 2 TDs each with Jim Nicholson getting 1 TD. Tom Tessiatore kicked 4 conversions to bring his total to 29 through the uprights out of 35 tries.

At JT, Nobody Plays Minor Roles—Everyone's Important

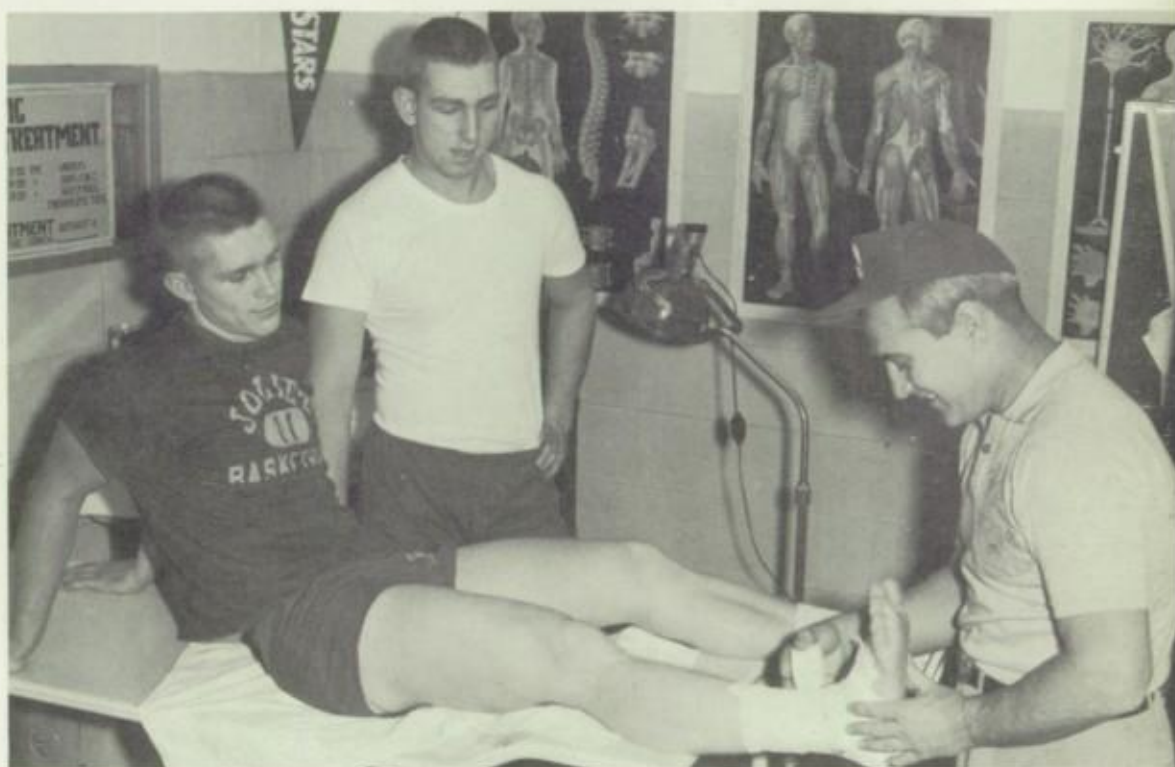

Joliet Township High School had one of the finest defensive records in the state—opponents averaged only 92 yards per game. The men responsible are Ken Piazza, 54; Dave Clark, 20; Bill Metes, 85; Frank D'Atri, 74; John Gates, 72; Ben Waddell, 53; Bill Schwab, 80; Charlie Winters, 32; Nick Cookas, 52; John Williams, 75; and, Gale Bucciarelli, 45.

Tom Tessitore is shown at his specialty of booting extra points after touchdowns. His proficiency in his art is indicated by his success in kicking 29 through the uprights out of 34 attempts. Holding for Tom for every kick was Marc Musser, as he is doing here.

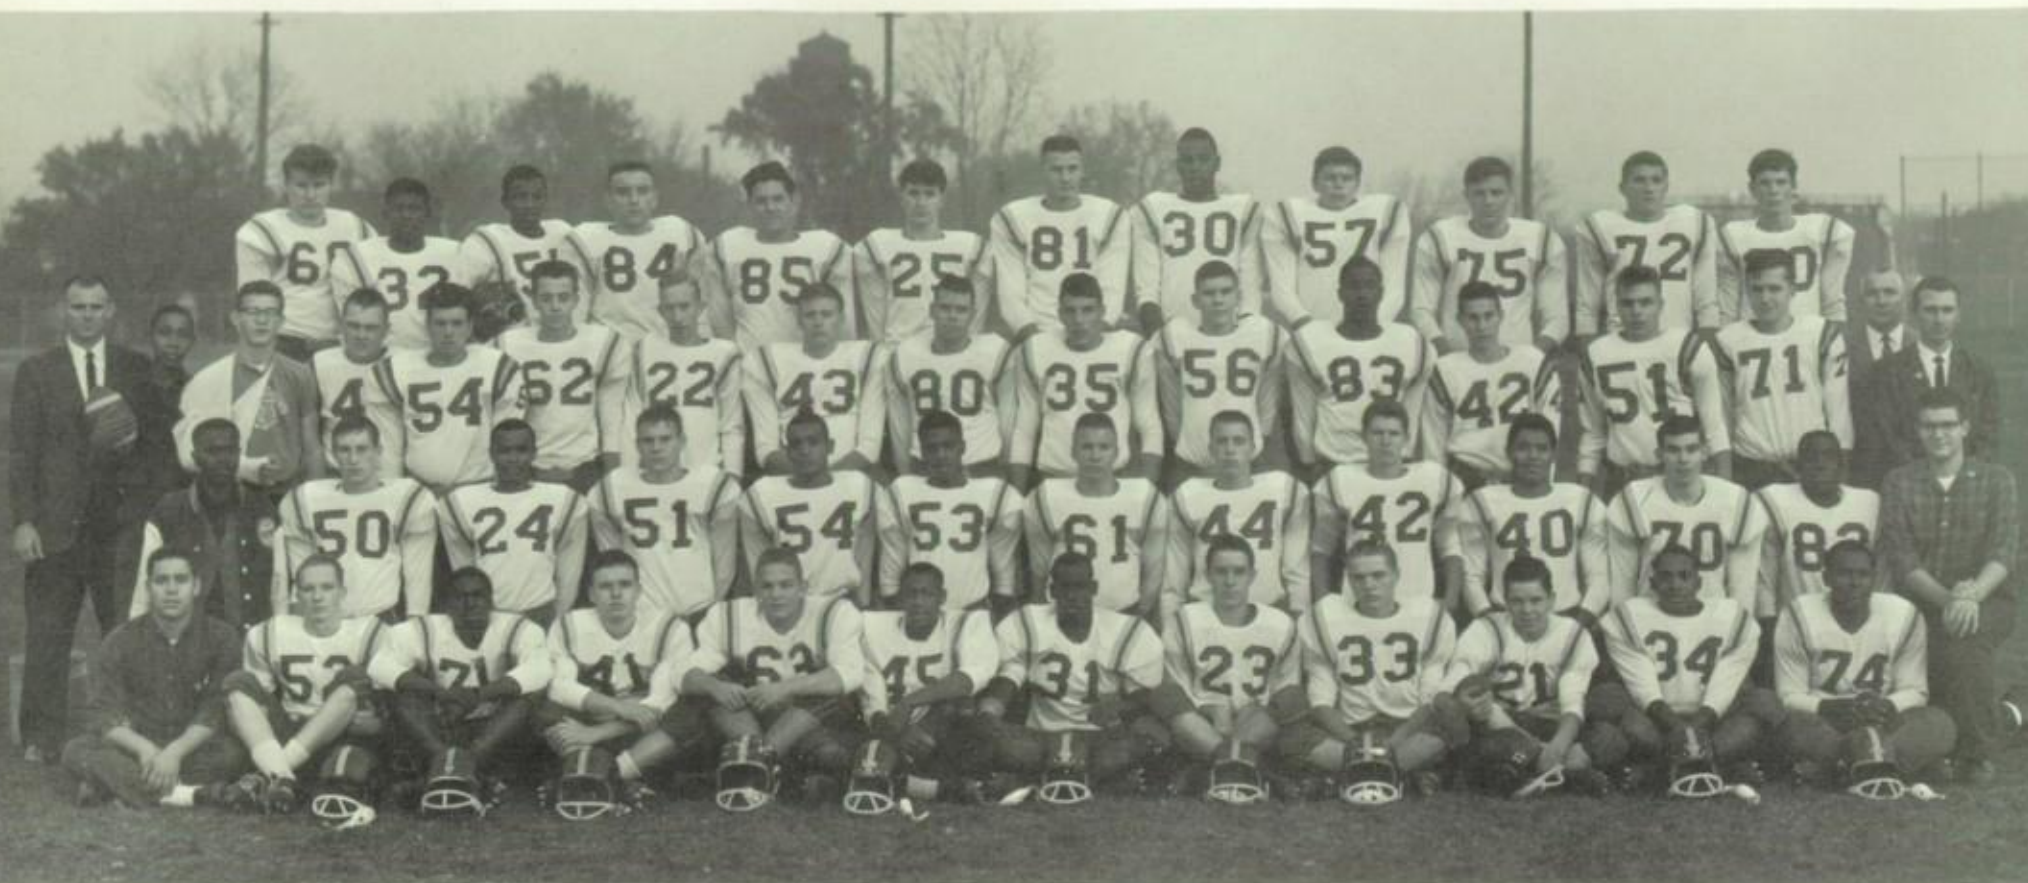

Miles and miles of adhesive tape gets wrapped around human extremities in the course of a year's athletic programming. Doing most of the wrapping is Jim (Cat) Catarello, JT's athletic trainer. Getting a few yards of tape in this instance is Bill Sudakis, basketball stalwart, who, according to Cat's diagnosis, needs a little extra support. Russ Thontlin stands by to check Cat's proficiency.

Awarded on the basis of all-around performance, the A. A. Stagg medal was given to the outstanding player for each of the nine varsity football games played. Award winners were Jim Nicholson, fourth from the left, Frank

During a football game the men seen working with the boys on the sidelines present, more often than not, a neat "Es-quire page" appearance, which is as it should be. How-ever, many is the time during the season when the coaches have to shuck down to their shirt sleeves and go to work. Here we see coaches (l. to r.) Mel May, Ed Woods, and Ken Robbins garbed in their "working clothes" and directing practice.

This year's Sophomore squad, although being the first to fail to either tie for, or win the conference championship, started slowly but ended on a strong note. Hampered by many injuries early to key players, they lost three out of their first five games. In spite of this slow start, the morale of the squad remained high and there was an indication at the seasons' end that many of these boys will help one of the three varsity teams next year.

Scoring was led by Bill Alexander, halfback, who scored 37 points, and Al Crusoe, slotback, with 30 points. Opening the holes in the line were ends Kent Grohne, Marvin Evans, and Brad Leahy; tackles Ed Klen and Gary McRaven; guards Rick Loose, who also played fullback, and Dave Meade; and, center Rick Peterbok. Bob Watt handled the fullback chores while Ken Gray and Don Harper shared the quarterback duties. Kent Grohne, Gary McRaven, Fred Schnieder, Rick Peterbok, Ed Klen, Bill Alexander, Brad Leahy, and Al Crusoe were some of the defensive stalwarts. Ron Tallman kicked the extra points. Al Crusoe and Ed Klen were elected co-captains and Gary McRaven was named most valuable player.

Best total effects result from close working relations between coach and players. Always a stickler for fundamentals, Coach Mel May emphasizes details and is shown outlining strategy with four of the key players on the Sophomore squad. Kneeling are Bill Alexander, head coach Mel May, and Al Crusoe. Standing are Fred Schnieder and Kent Grohne.

Desire, determination, and confidence are the words that describe Joliet Township's freshman football team. Under the watchful eyes of Coaches Ed Beltzhoover, John Swalec, Dave Dorick, and Russ Leksell, the Steelmidgets compiled a record of 8 wins, for an undefeated season, with only one tie to mar their record. The tie came at the hands of Blue Island.

This freshman team was able to accept responsibility in making the "big play" when it was needed. They had many good individual players, but instead of functioning primarily as individuals, they operated well as a unit.

Many players learned to play various positions so as to expand their versatility as a team. They gained much of their confidence and ability by practicing against the sophomores. Although this may have bruised their ego, they accepted the challenge and performed well.

JOLIET WINS WILLOWBROOK TOURNEY

JT's wrestling team took a first place in the Willowbrook Tournament with a total of 47 points. Other teams participating in the tournament were Wheaton, Naperville, and Willowbrook. Joliet had eight first place individual winners and one second place winner. First place winners were; Pete Choban, Jon Hennings, Gerry Gea, Joe McClintock, Bob Emerick, Frank D'Atri, John Gates, and Gale Bucciarelli. John Williams ennexed a second place award.

JOLIET CAPTURES DISTRICT TITLE

Eight Steelmen captured individual championships in the District wrestling meet held at Plainfield. Coach Ray Klotwyk's outfit rolled up 125 points, while second place Lockport managed 86 points.

Ron Chaplin, Gerry Gea, Joe McClintock, Steve Stachelski, Bob Emerick, Frank D'Atri, John Gates, Gale Bucciarelli, and John Williams were the Steelmen capturing honors.

JOLIET IS SOUTH SUBURBAN LEAGUE MAT CHAMPIONSHIP WINNER
Joliet's Steelmen continued its domination of South Suburban League wrestling for the third straight season.

Five Steelmen took individual titles, while another was runnerup.

Coach Ray Klotwyk's outfit amassed 91 points to comfortably outdistance its closest challenger, Thornton and Harvey, which tallied 75 points.

Pete Choban, Jerry Gea, Frank D'Atri, John Gates, and Gale Bucciarelli walked off with individual honors for Joliet Township.

Net Result Of Stringing Together Is Lucrative Racket

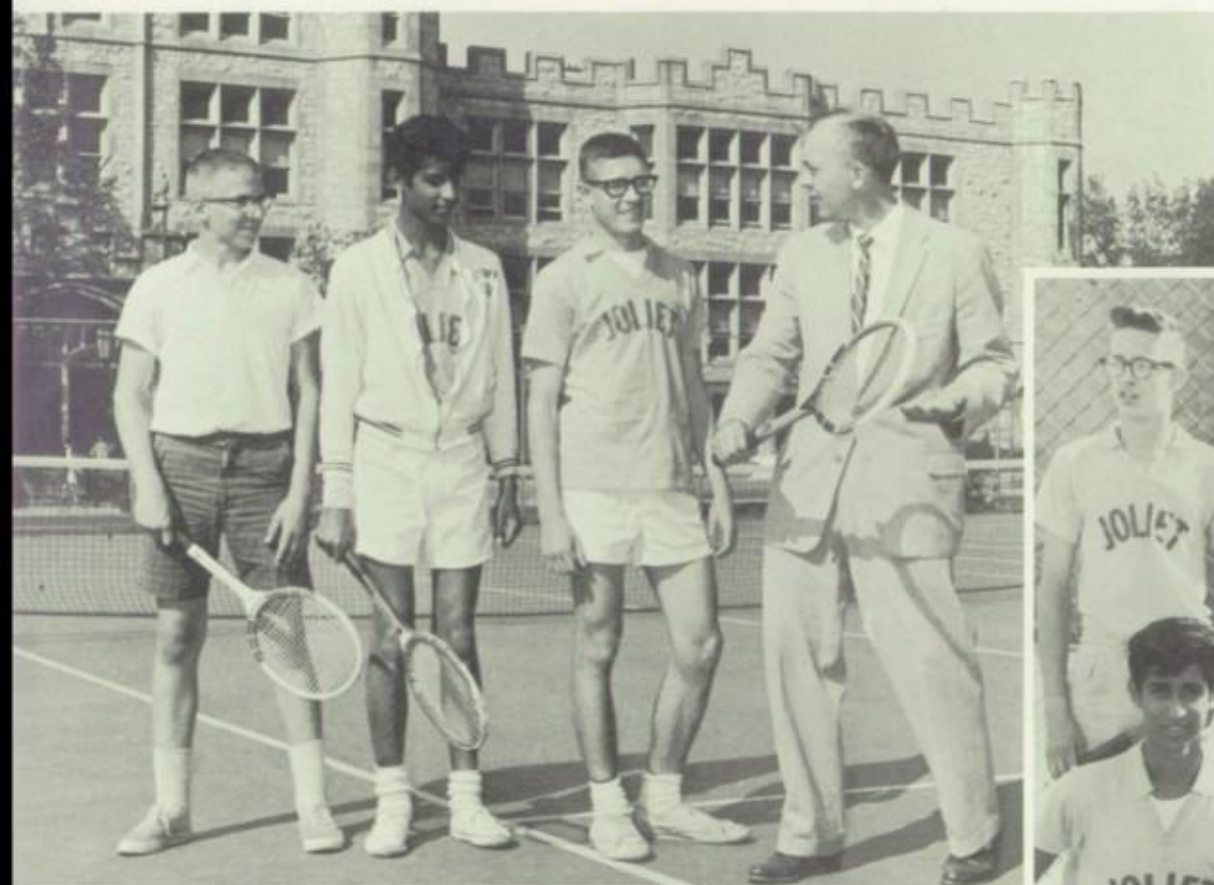

Coach Dick Sorenson's 1963 tennis squad battled through a tough season's schedule to finish the campaign with an 8-12 record. The season started slowly as the team lost their first four matches before downing Thornridge 5-0. The rest of the season had its "ups" and "downs" as the team consistently showed improvement. They were edged out in five decisions by one point, but finished strongly as they won their last two matches.

This year's squad was comprised of a group of talented sophomores and juniors who have developed into a formidable working unit over the years.

Carl Johnson, Nabor Venegas, and Bob Morrison give their attention to Coach Dick Sorenson as he demonstrates the position in which a tennis racket should be held.

This group of talented fresh-soph tennis players comprised the team that won the South Suburban League tennis tournament last spring. BOTTOM ROW, Nabor Venegas, Rich Gutierrez, Don Johnson, and Ken Parker. TOP ROW, Ron Ritchey, Dave Quas, Ken McPartlin, and Ted Cottingham.

"Swingers" At This School Are The Golfers

In the spring of 1963 JT golf coach, Russ Leksell, led his varsity golfers to a record of six wins and six losses. Composed of Mike Long, Rich Armstrong, Rick Shepley, Tom Elyea, and Mike Bowser, this hard-swinging fivesome captured second place in both the district and the South Suburban League conference meets.

The Frosh-Soph squad of last spring, including Bill Welker, Mark Hoffer, Al Horvath, and Mark Ambrose, compiled a record of four wins against two defeats.

Regional Tourney Winner, State Ranked Basketball Club

Joliet Township's basketball team started off the year on a slow note, but improved as the season went by. Coach Ed Wood's squad came through against tremendous odds and won the Joliet Regional Tournament. One of the more tasteful bits of excitement came when the Steelmen beat state-ranked Lockport near the season's end by an overwhelming score of 47-29. As a result of this show against the Porters, JT caused Lockport to be dropped completely from the state rankings enabling the Steelmen to finish the year ranked number 16.

By virtue of outstanding performances throughout the season, Bill Sudakis and Daryl Alderson were named to the All-SSL team. In addition, Bill Sudakis and Dave Efner gained positions on the All-suburban Chicago team.

Record making is the province of the athletes, but a job of no less importance is that of record keeping. The unsung heroes of the varsity basketball program are the boys who toil in the background to see that the work of the athletes is made easier. Such persons are statistics keepers and team managers. Shown here in an organizational confab are John Behringer, a manager, Don Hazen, record keeper, and Tim Rawley, manager.

Materializes From Determined 'Underdog' Cage Scrappers

JOLIET DEFEATS ST. PATRICK

The Steelmen provided the opening night crowd with a spine-tingler that will go down in cage history, as they slipped past St. Patrick of Kankakee, 51-46.

Bill Sudakis led the balanced scoring attack for the Steelmen with 10 points, followed by Bill Alexander and Daryl Alderson, who chipped in nine points apiece.

STEELMEN PLACE SECOND IN MORRIS TOURNEY

Joliet Township won respect and lost a title in the Morris Holiday Tournament.

Head Coach Ed Woods' stubborn chargers shook off the absence of veteran mainstay Bill Sudakis, sidelined with a severely sprained ankle, and carried once-beaten, top seeded Streator to the wire in the wrapup of the 16th annual Morris tournament before dropping a 50-49 decision and the championship.

Rollie Axelson and Daryl Alderson shared the scoring honors for Joliet. Alderson finished with 21 points for the evening's effort.

JOLIET PELTS THE PORTERS

Basketball is a game of skill, and Joliet was skillful to the point of perfection en route to a 47-29 upset victory over Lockport Township.

A superb effort, the Steelmen got the best of a superb outfit, the state ranked Porters.

Point production for Joliet came largely on the talents of Bill Sudakis and Daryl Alderson, the one-two tandem all season, with 15 and 13, respectively.

Joliet's Steelmen have good cause for whooping it up, having just won the Joliet Regional Tournament.

Cagers Fast Finish Indicative Of Improved Performance

Steelmen Win Joliet Regional Tourney

Joliet Township picked up all the marbles in its own Regional Basketball Tournament in clearing its last hurdle, Joliet Catholic, 46-34.

The Steelmen were at their defensive best, a stringy band that shook off the Hilltoppers assault in the early stages to steal the show.

Bill Sudakis led all scorers by pumping home 18 points, while Jim Randolph contributed 14 points.

Leaping, reaching, and stretching is all part of the game. Roland Axelson gets his finger tips on the ball and possession is 90% of the law.

Dave Efner gets a little closer to the basket as his leap puts him within flipping range of the hoop.

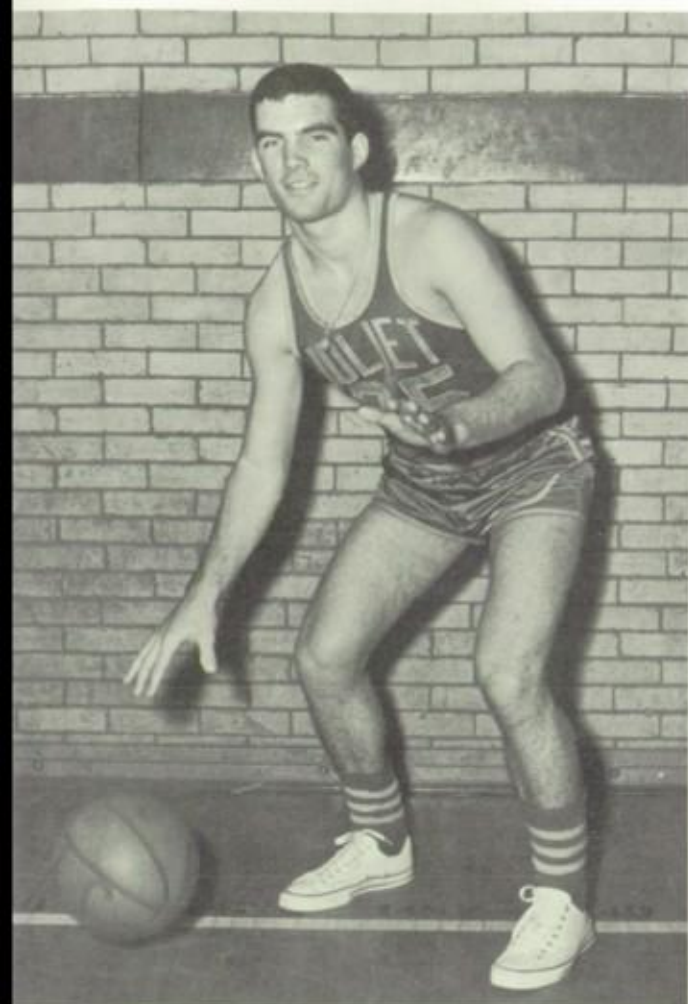

To score, one must have possession of the ball. To get it, Daryl Alderson stretches long to grab a rebound.

Joliet Falls To Thornton

Dave Efner was the scene-stealer at the Kankakee sectional, but the brilliant 5 foot 9 inch senior's superb efforts weren't enough to propel Joliet past Thornton of Harvey in sectional high school tournament basketball play.

Despite Efner, it was the Wildcats, 62-47. Efner enjoyed his finest offensive performance, pocketing 15 points, just a couple more than teammate Bill Sudakis, and, on defense, he put a blanket on the Wildcats' all-state candidate, Bob Covert.

Freshmen "A" Team Wins Glenbrook North Tourney

The "A" basketball team had a record of 15 victories and 2 losses. The team finished first in the Glenbrook North tournament and third in the Kankakee tournament. It was one of the most promising freshmen teams to start their basketball play at JT. For the first season at three separate campuses, these boys will form the nucleus for the first squads at their respective schools beginning in 1964.

The "B" team was organized for games to be played by the individual teams, East, West, and Central. These teams compiled a record of 8 wins and 2 losses. This also assures an adequate beginning for the two new schools by routing talent in their direction.

218 Coach Roger Swank is giving last minute instructions to Greg Hutson (center) and Bob Glasscock prior to a run.

An inexperienced group of juniors created the nucleus for this year's cross country team. Led by Greg Hutson, they compiled a 1-7 record for the season while taking seventh place in the conference meet.

Due to the loss of some of last year's most fleet junior and sophomore prospects, Coach Roger Swank spent most of this season rebuilding for the future.

The typical cross country course is 1.9 miles over hilly terrain with some obstacles. An average runner can complete the course in about 10 minutes. Daily workouts of cross country participants consists of 2 to 6 mile runs for practice. Many athletes participate in cross country for conditioning purposes in that it develops heart and lung stamina which assures physical endurance.

Boys Learn To Pick 'em Up and Lay 'em Down

The frosh-soph cross country team captured fourth place in the South Suburban League conference meet. Led by freshman Stan Mazon, JT compiled a 6-2 record for the season. Other consistent runners were Bruce Brixey, Larry Sayles, John Spiva, Al Clark, and Bill Arrington. Mazon also took second place as an individual runner in the conference meet. Another accomplishment was his winning first place in the Freshmen Invitational Meet at Thornridge.

Coach Roger Swank is discussing the situation with a relaxed group of frosh-soph runners before a conference meet. The meet resulted in JT placing fourth.

Even Without A Pool, JT Is In The Swim

In just four short years after the inauguration of swimming as a sport at Joliet Township, the swim team has proved to the area, and the South Suburban League in particular, that they are a team with which to be reckoned. Under the leadership of Coach Don Kienlen, they had an overall 8-2 record in dual meets. The two losses were by one and four points to Homewood-Flossmoor and Thornridge, respectively.

In the Riverside-Brookfield Relays, the Steelmen placed 12th out of a field of 25 teams. They placed 4th in the Sandburg Invitational and second in SSL conference and district meets. From the district meet, two Steelmen qualified for the state swimming finals. They were sophomore Rick Loose and junior Don Kienlen. Rick won the 50 yard freestyle while Don won both the 100 yard butterfly and the 200 yard individual medley.

Record breaking performances were recorded in dual meets by Jim Bergstrom, Don Kienlen, Kent Grohne, Curt Cramer, and Rick Loose.

Though Thinly Clad, These Boys Range The Field

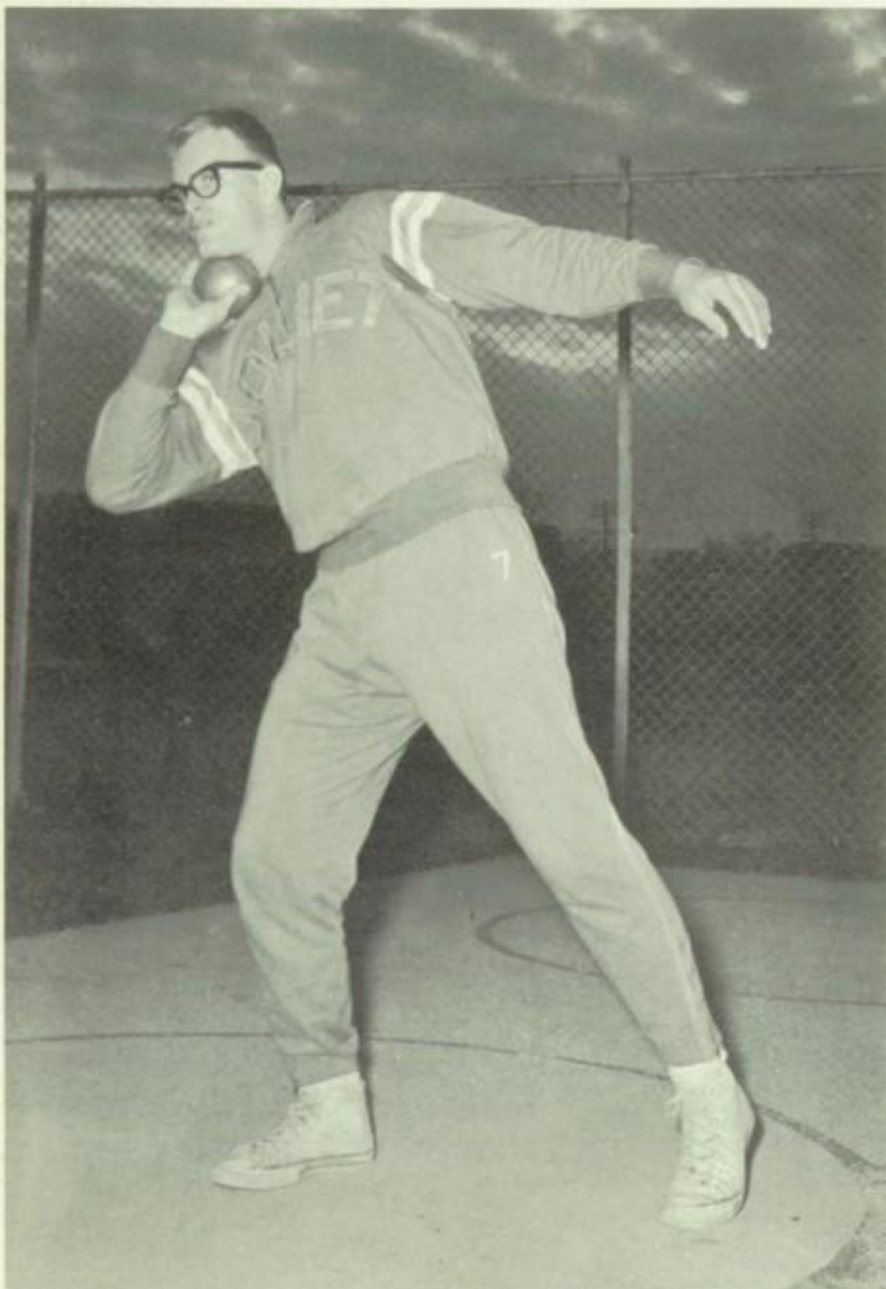

Coaches Bruce Tompkins, Don Kienlen, Roger Swank, and Henry Pennymon confer on their tentative slate of track participants.

The Thinclads of Joliet Township finished the 1963 track season with a 7-1 dual meet record. Their only loss was by two points to a powerful Bloom team. The Steelmen also won their third Will County Track Meet in three years, placed 6th in the Rockford Relays, ran 6th in the district meet, and finished 4th in the South Suburban League meet held at Kankakee.

The Frosh-Soph squad finished the regular dual meet season with a 7-1 record. Their only loss was by four points to Bloom. The Frosh-Soph Thinclads won the South Suburban League championship and set a few records. Serving as captain of the 1963 squad was Dave Kienlen. Succeeding Dave as captain for the 1964 team was Bob Glasscock.

Galexy Of Diamond Stars Light Way

Joliet Township won their first South Suburban League baseball championship since entering the conference four years ago. Coach George Fahrenholtz directed the squad composed primarily of underclassmen to a record of 12-5 for the season.

A big highlight of the season found the Steelmen drubbing Thornridge of Dolton by a score of 12-2. The pitcher for Thornridge, Bob Paarlberg, was being observed by 20 major league scouts when the Steelmen turned the tables by scoring 6 runs off him in the first inning. Bill Sudakis, Steelmen pitcher for the game, turned in a one hit ball game.

Four Steelmen players made the All-SSL first team, John Wielgosz, Bob Evans, Jim Randolph, and Sudakis. Randolph and Sudakis were back forming a nucleus of 15 returning lettermen for the 1964 season.

The Girls' Athletic Association not only works to improve physical dexterity in each of its members but also tries to instill the desire in everyone to improve her character and practice better citizenship.

To some girls, G.A.A. means a greater opportunity to engage in physical activity, while to others, it means establishing lasting friendships. Many girls have a chance not only to participate in activities, but also to practice leadership.

As an integral part of the school's athletic program, the G.A.A. remains essentially the same—an activity proven over the years to be basically sound—one to which the girls involved are exposed to proper guidance and training which fosters growth in each girl physically, mentally, and psychologically. It is known to be sound because over the years it has proven its worth.

Competent Students Accept Leadership Roles

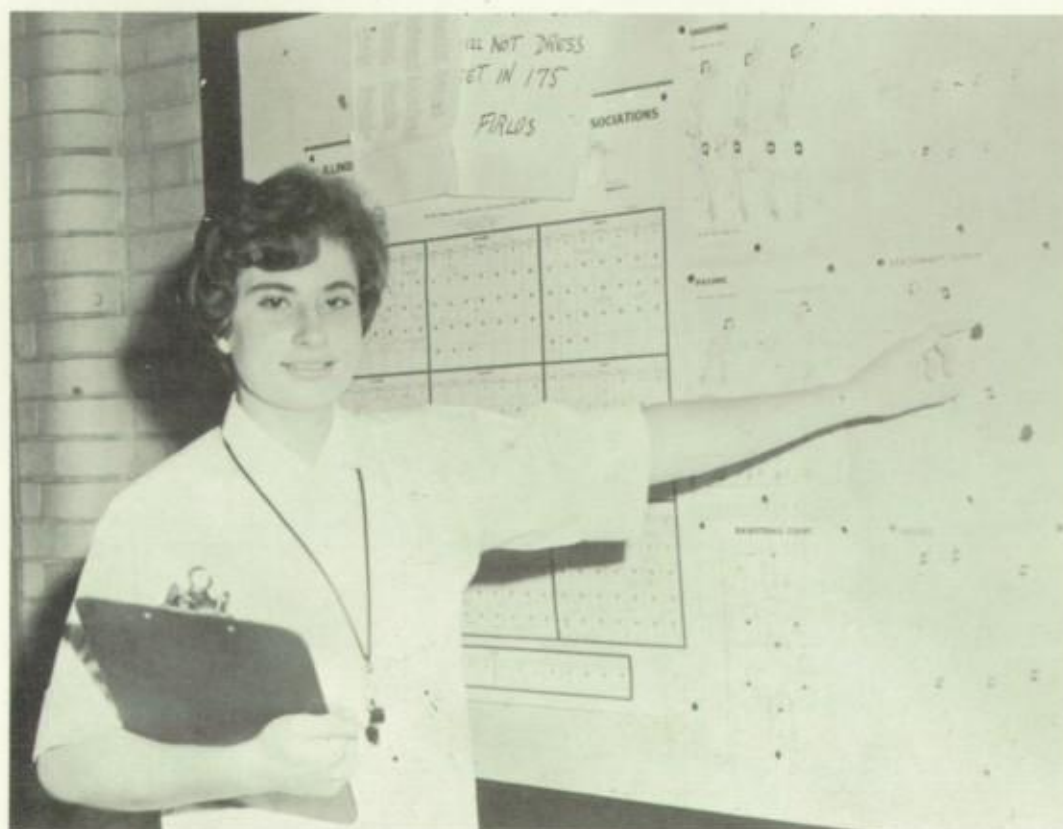

Jean Frank checks Pat Peterson's starting position for forward roll.

Filing is just one of the many jobs which Lenette Hertz performs as service aid.

Each of these four young ladies has one particular goal ahead of her to become a physical education teacher. The Girl's Physical Education Department has established a program whereby each girl may participate in an additional gym period. During this period she is able to view different styles of teaching and she also has a chance to instruct.

This year there are two seniors and one junior participating in the student leadership program. Also, there is one other junior who is a service aid. She works in the office, filing and running errands for the teachers. By participating in this program, the girls learn what it is like to be a physical education teacher and what is required of her.

With clip board and whistle, Darlene Koenig is ready for all phases of student leading.

With ball in hand and fist ready, Ann Ramsey demonstrates volleyball serve.

Ballet Belles Exemplify Balance, Symmetry, Harmony

Miss Revell, sponsor, works enthusiastically with club members, helping them to execute intricate positions.

The Ballet Club, one of the honorary clubs of the G.A.A., is open to any member who shows an interest in the club and can perform basic skills. Tryouts are held annually and present members of the club select prospective candidates on the basis of form and gracefulness.

The Club meets once a week and Miss Revell, sponsor, works with the girls, helping them to execute positions and dances correctly. The Ballet Club, in the past has appeared at programs including "Rhythms Night," "Gym Dandy," and playdays.

Ballet Club affairs are the responsibility of Joy Larson, president.

From Gangling Goslings Do Modern Dancers Grow

Members of this segment of the Modern Dance Club are (sitting) Bonnie McQueen, Lenette Hertz, Cindy Keck, Sharyn Squier, Donna Grohne, and Sue Pierson. (standing) Pam Hunte, Carol Fugett, Bonnie Jenkins, Maureen Bailies, and Jackie Jackson.

Demonstrating a modern jazz technique, Miss Thalrose, modern dance instructor, is always prepared to illustrate personally for her students any unusual position yet untried by them.

The Modern Dance Club at present contains the largest number of girls of any of the honorary clubs. Led by Miss Thalrose, sponsor, the girls learn dances using intricate techniques and positions. They also work with Modern Jazz and Hawaiian dances.

Tryouts are held yearly and each girl is required not only to master basic techniques, but also to create a dance, which is performed to music or nursery rhymes.

In the past, the Modern Dance Club has appeared at the "Gym Dandy," "Rhythm's Night," and the Christmas Party.

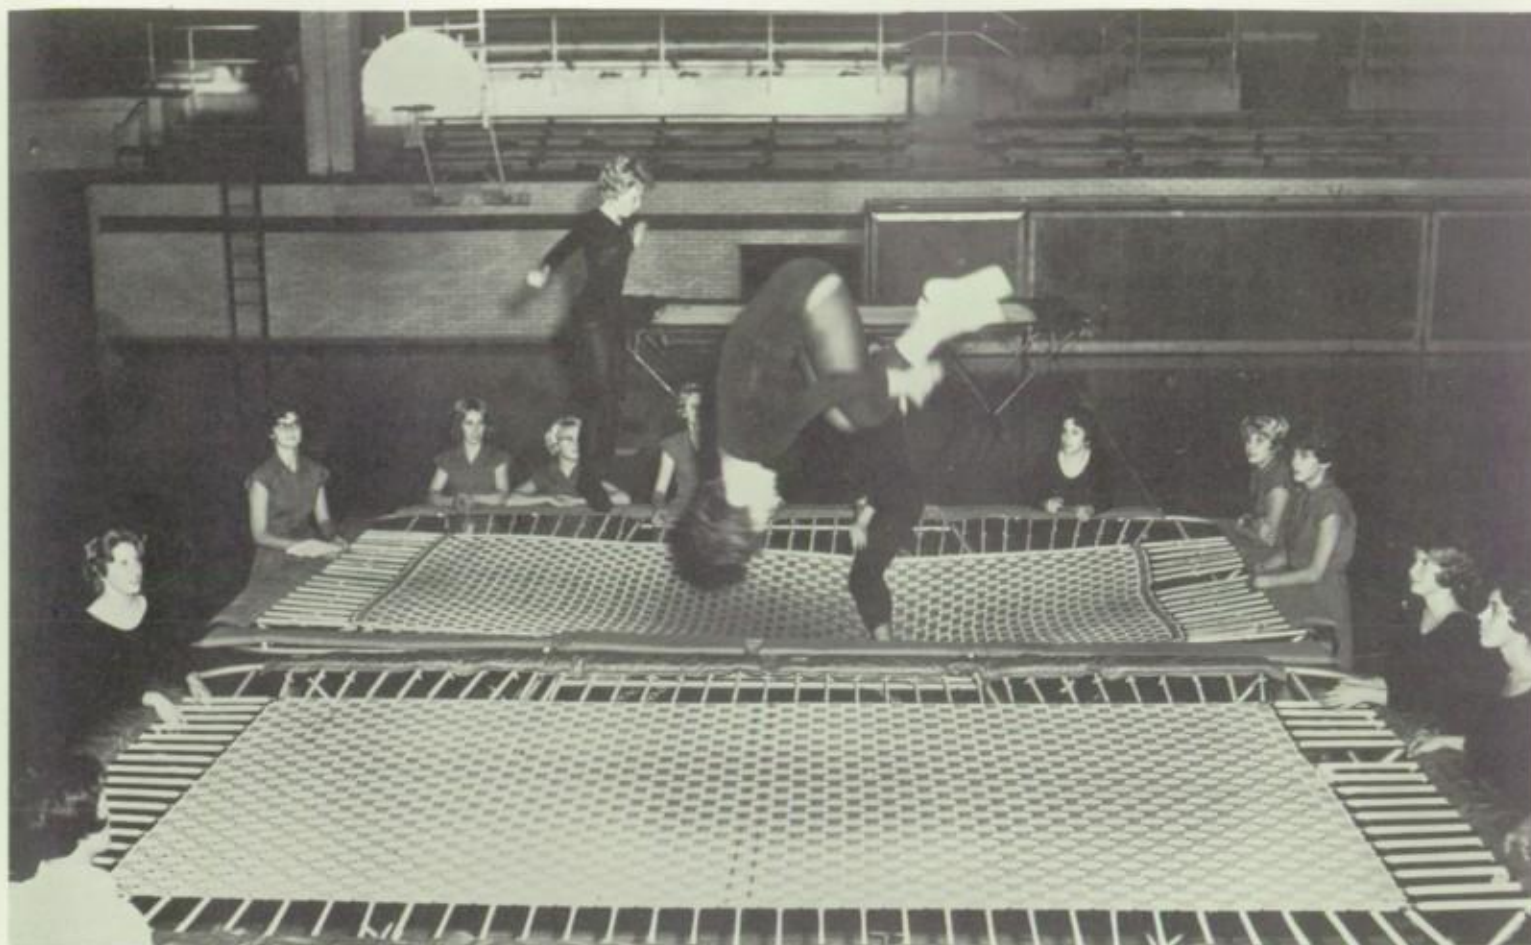

Striking a pose to illustrate modern dance technique is Judy Osborn, president of the club.

Agility Is Best Seen On The Tricky Trampoline

Miss Urquhart, Sponsor, works with enthusiastic girls, who want to learn difficult and advanced stunts.

Linda Bolling, president, handles the business end of the Trampoline Club.

The main purpose of the Honorary Trampoline Club is to help its members learn stunts with form and co-ordination on the trampoline. Miss Urquhart, sponsor, always willing and able, helps the girls with these difficult and advanced stunts.

Tryouts are held yearly and any G.A.A. member is eligible; however, she must show some form and gracefulness when performing.

In the past the Trampoline Club has appeared at the playdays, "Rhythm's Night," "Gym Dandy," and various other activities. The Trampoline Club too, is another important asset to the Girls' Athletic Association.

Tumbling Tends To Turn The Torso Topsy-Turvey

Mrs. Dawson, sponsor, (extreme left) is always there to assist with difficult and advanced stunts. Here she is assisting with a back walk-over as the rest of club watches.

Jane Snider, co-president, shows perfect form while executing elbow stand.

Jill Howk shows how the split is done. She is the other co-president.

The Honorary Tumbling Club is also open to any G.A.A. member who shows an interest in the club and can perform basic stunts. When trying out for the club, the candidates must execute certain stunts with form and also be able to invent a floor pattern with these stunts.

Mrs. Dawson, sponsor, works with the girls, showing them advanced stunts.

In the past, the Tumbling Club has entertained at the "Rhythms Night" "Gym Dandy," and playdays.

Volleyball May Get The "Hand" But Tennis Has The "Racket"

Miss Rohde shows how a perfect serve is done as some of the sophomores look on.

Miss Lemanski executes a perfect forehand as Pat Liberty, Jean Frank, Virginia Lim, Sharon Hood, and (kneeling) Pam Liberty watch intently.

Winter Sports Appealing To Indoor Or Outdoor Types

Sharon Hood (left) and Donna Price (center) give an assuring nod to Ruth Austin as she gets ready to "zoom" down the hill.

Miss Lemanski (kneeling) helps Darlene McNichols tighten her skis.

Carole Leuthner, sporthead, looks very determined as she concentrates on possible strike.

Lois White, sporthead, is ready to let her ball go-a-rolling down the alley.

Bubbling Belles Battle Bouncing Basketballs

Up goes Sandy Blount and Margaret Carey for a jump ball as referees Darlene Koenig (front) and Donna Price (rear) watch for possible foul.

Will it go in? This is just one of the tense moments in G.A.A. basketball.

Linda Pratto attempts a free throw as rest of girls watch with anticipation.

Active Apparatus Application Accents Balances, And Bounces

With the greatest of ease, Jane Schiek soars on the flying trapeze.

Up goes Diane Heinlen on the trampoline.

Resulting In Bruises, Blisters, Battered Backs And Bumps

Executing splits on the flying rings is one of Sandy Palmer's favorite stunts.

Terrie Holland displays much form and gracefulness on the balance beam. 239

G.A.A. All Powerful Over F.H.A. & Donkeys

"We'll get 'em partner" is Lyn Thorsen's determined look as she gives "Louie" the mule, a pat of reassurance. GAA did win 6-4.

G.A.A.'s Jane Schiek (left), Darlene Koenig (center), and Jean Frank (right) watch as ball goes in basket for first two points for G.A.A. and for the game.

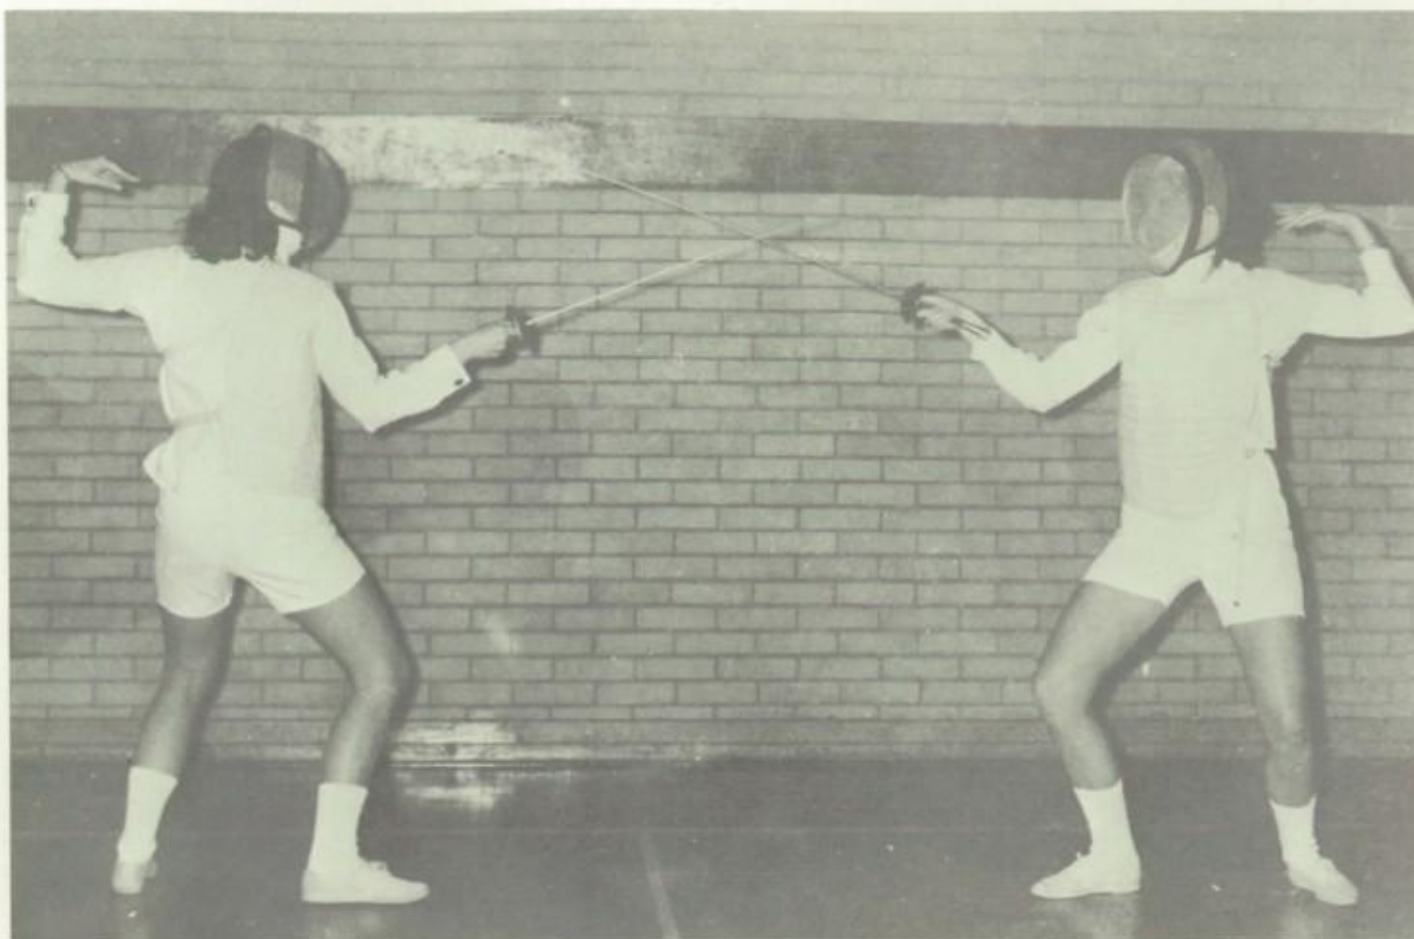

Ball, shot by LaVaughn Enis, rests momentarily on rim before going in as Herman Williams, referee, Darlene Koenig (34), and Myrna Gurhich (44) look on.

Slam! Swish! Slash! Snap! Oh!! My Aching Back

Judy Klemt, fencing sporthead, shows her favorite: the salute.

Pam and Pat Liberty show how an engaged position in fencing is executed.

Genevieve Jones, softball sporthead, gets ready to "whack" the ball when pitched.

G.A.A. Initiation is Accepted As A Solemn Ceremony

G.A.A. officers Jann VanDerLinden, Darlene Koenig, Donna Price, Jean Frank, and Sue Gregory are solemn as formal initiation is being conducted.

Rosemary Jovanovich and Eileen Farrell are happy and proud to receive their initiation pins from Linda Meier and Donna Price.

Linda Lundin and Mary Ellen Kazmark light candles before taking the pledge.

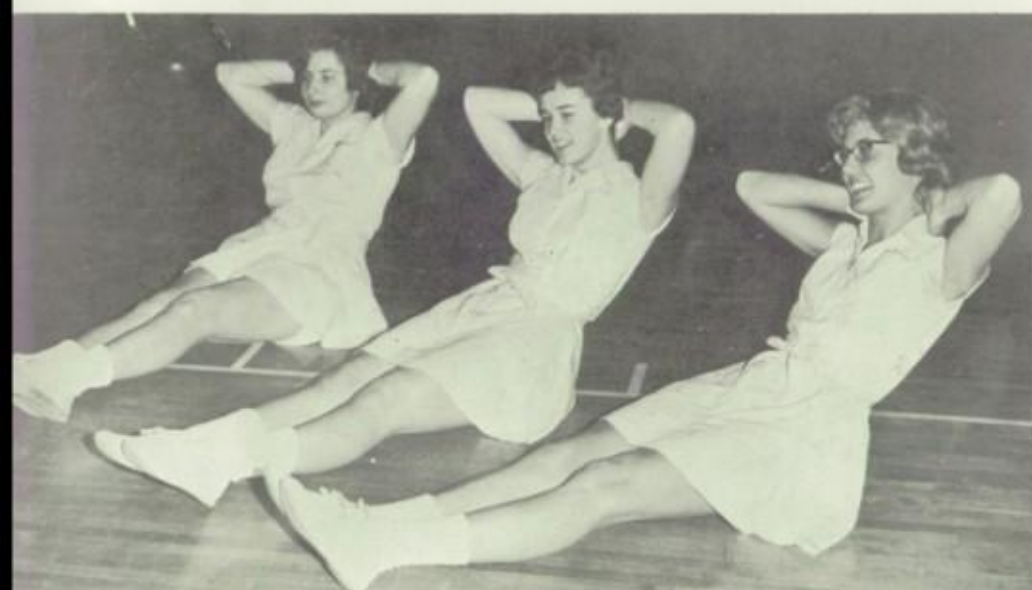

Where there is food, there are G.A.A. girls. Here they are enjoying cupcakes and milk after initiation.

Being Physically-Handy Makes Girls Just Gym-Dandy

Reminiscing over many of the memorable experiences in which they took part are the G.A.A. Senior Award winners (front row) Terrie Holland, Judy Osborn, and Carole Leuthner. (Back row) Susan Blount, Donna Price, Jean Frank, and Sandy Blount.

Donna Powers, Mary Rose Minnito, and June Puddicombe, three more of the top physically fit girls of JT show the Shuttle Run.

Gwen Favretto, Louise Wilson, JoAnn Stefanich, Lenette Hertz, and Charlotte Tezak think pullups aren't strenuous either because they, too, are physically fit.

Combine Efforts To Achieve Educational Goals

MR. GUY HAINES
Dean of Boys

The Joliet Township High School Board of Education, composed of seven elected members from the district, establishes over-all school policy. Other duties are to provide educational apparatus to achieve the high standard the school has set and maintains, to employ personnel, and to determine salaries. The Board may also dismiss teachers, suspend or expel students, and sell obsolete equipment.

An issue which has demanded much time is the necessary planning for the two new four-year high schools, which are scheduled for use in September of 1964.

In addition to coping with disciplinary problems, the deans perform several other duties. They are members of the scholarship committee and choose many of the award winners. Miss Mahaney coordinates the school monitor program and approves posters for corridor display while Mr. Haines is JT's student sales chairman. The deans also arrange for visits from college representatives throughout the school year, providing a wonderful opportunity for the students to become better acquainted with colleges in particular and college life in general.

The Business Manager administers the finances of the school. The Director of Trade and Industrial Education is responsible for the coordination of the school's entire trade and industrial program.

Department Chairmen Responsible

Each of Joliet Township High School's twenty-one departments function under the supervision of a chairman who coordinates the teaching program of his area. Appointed by the superintendent, with the Board of Education's approval, these chairmen assume teaching responsibilities in addition to their administrative duties. Teaching approaches for courses falling under his departmental jurisdiction, textbooks, teacher assignment, and class balancing are among their responsibilities.

Counselors, Social Workers Aid Students In Curricular And Social Problems

In addition to orienting eighth grade (prospective JT) students, administering standardized aptitude and college entrance exams, programming and assigning classes, and conducting group guidance meetings, the JT counselors are always available and eager to advise students.

High school curriculum, career, college, and scholarship information is at their disposal. Each counselor endeavors to have at least one yearly conference with each of his assigned students. The maximum number of conferences depend upon the student's need. Those in doubt of career and college selections meet frequently with their counselor.

While the counselors are concerned mainly with academic and career difficulties, most personal problems are referred to the understanding and competent social workers.

FRESHMAN CLASS COUNSELORS

Mrs. Rosellen Oswalt, Mr. Benjamin Day, and Mr. Carl Naghtin.

JUNIOR CLASS COUNSELORS

Mr. Homer Howard, Mrs. Christine Hicks, and Mr. Harris Enderson.

Miss Cecilia Trizna, Mrs. Naomi Hedstrom, and Miss Beverly Antoniewicz.

SCHOOL SOCIAL WORKERS
Miss Marion Gilbertson and Mrs. Alice Katzin.

SENIOR CLASS COUNSELORS

Mrs. Alice Gorman, Mr. Perry Goranson, and Miss Lucile Stewart.

An Accumulated Total of One Hundred and Thirty-three

MISS DOROTHE HUDZIETZ

In Service at JT From 1928-1964

Miss Dorothe Hudzietz has taught business education at JT for thirty-six years. For the past fifteen years she has been chairman of the business education department.

She received her B.B.A. degree from Texas Women's University at Denton, Texas, and her M.A. degree from Northwestern University. She has also attended the University of Chicago and New York University. During the summer of 1956, she visited seventeen countries in Western Europe. Miss Hudzietz had done newspaper reporting prior to entering the teaching profession. She continues to contribute to business education magazines.

Miss Hudzietz has the distinction of being the school's first ROTC faculty sponsor and served in that capacity for sixteen years.

She plans to return to her family and friends in Dallas, Texas. She would like to continue writing and take courses in creative writing when she retires. She is hopeful of finding more time for reading, golfing, riding, and dancing.

Miss Hudzietz "still feels new" at JT, and has enjoyed her stay at this "wonderful school." She has found the people of Joliet to be friendly. She states she would be unhappy about leaving Joliet if she didn't have assurance that her friends would visit her occasionally in Dallas.

Miss Hudzietz believes that "life is happy as long as one has work to do and people to love." Judging from her past experiences and future plans, Miss Hudzietz has enjoyed a rich and full life.

MR. GLENN EVANS

In Service at JT From 1925-1964

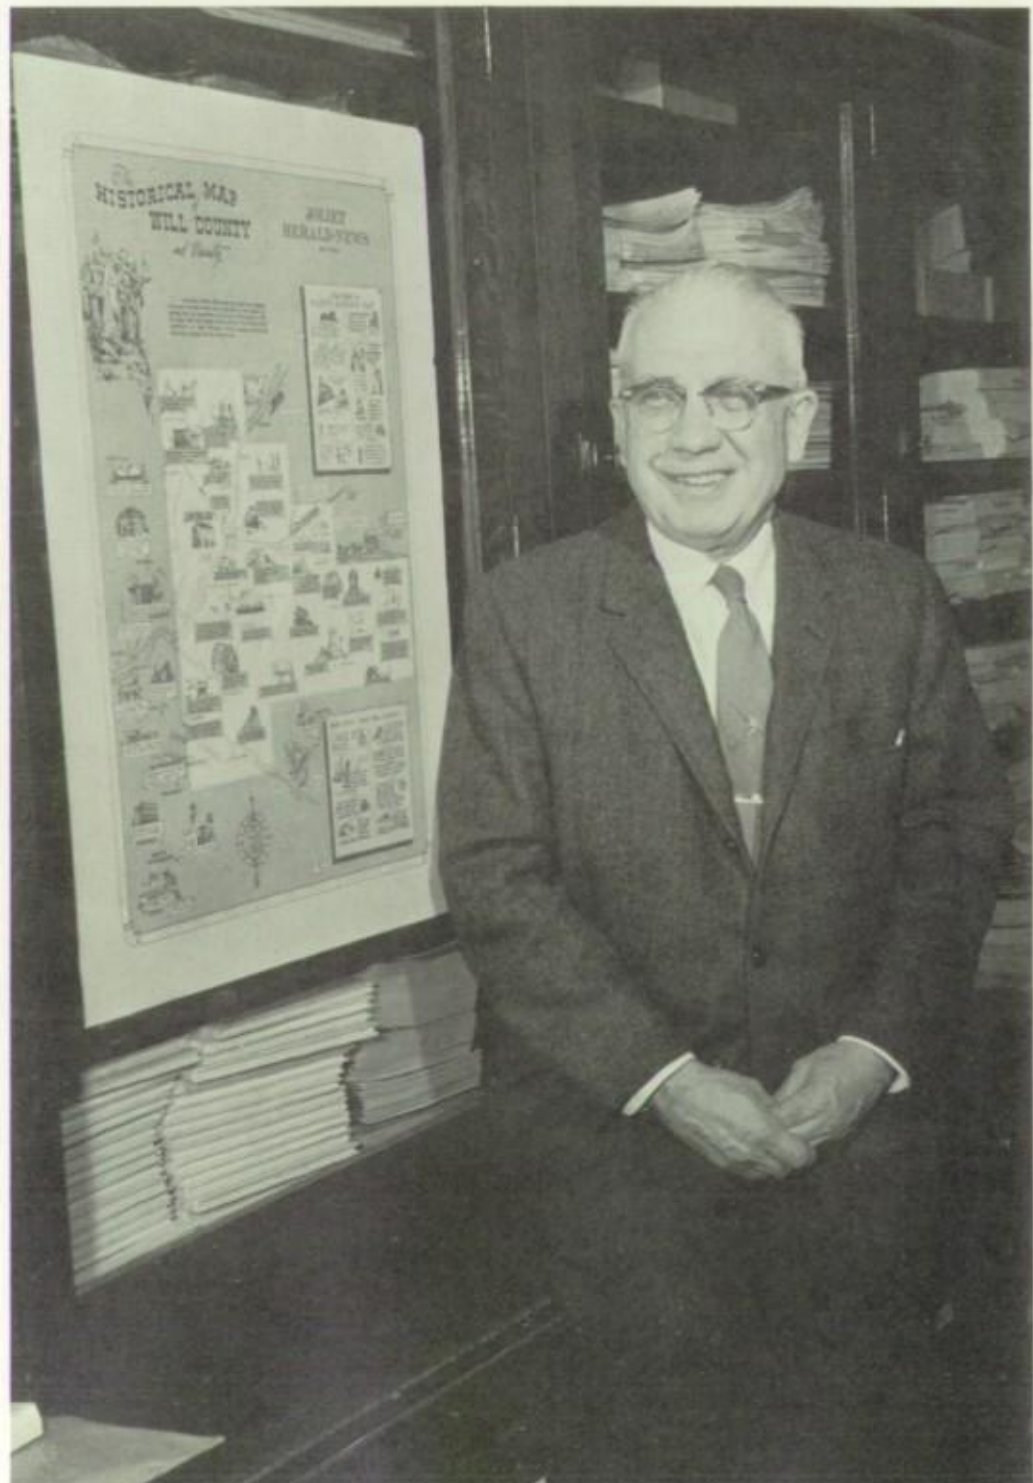

Mr. Glenn Evans, Social Science department chairman, has been in service at JTHS since 1925. He has taught almost all of the social sciences in both the high school and junior college, assuming mainly junior college courses the past fifteen years. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Monmouth College, and took his Master of Arts degree at the University of Chicago.

In conjunction with a teacher exchange program, Mr. Evans taught in the Harrogate (England) Grammar School during the school year of 1949-1950. When he returned to JT in 1950, he became the Social Science department chairman.

Mr. Evans was a Hi-Y faculty advisor when the group was first formed, prior to the building of the Joliet YMCA. He remained as an advisor for several years following the establishment of the local YMCA. He has also been quite active in the Central Presbyterian Church over the years.

Mr. Evans derives much enjoyment from traveling. He has traveled extensively in Europe, and, more recently, in Alaska, Hawaii, and Canada. He and Mrs. Evans plan to do more traveling in the future, especially in visits to their son in Seattle, Washington, and their daughter in Annapolis, Maryland.

JT student and faculty members feel regret in the retirement of such a zealous and talented teacher and administrator such as Mr. Evans has been, but consider themselves fortunate to have received his devoted attention for the many years he has been here.

Years Of Devoted Service To JT Is Herein Represented

MR. BROR ANDERSON

In Service at JT From 1936-1964

Mr. Bror Anderson joined the JT staff in 1936. Since 1955, he has been the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

He likes fishing, golfing, woodworking, and traveling. He says he could spend the next five or six years traveling and be very content. He has seen the North, and has covered the South rather extensively. Next on his agenda are the West Coast, and the Northwest, the East and Mexico.

He has been active in the Boy Scouts and the Joliet Rifle Club. He was a charter member of the Joliet YMCA.

Mr. Anderson believes one should cross bridges when one reaches them. He has had to follow this policy in the past, as he has been summoned to aid in JT maintenance crises in uncountable instances "after hours." His promptness and willingness to respond to such summons illustrates his devotion to his work.

MR. HOMER KLINE

In Service at JT From 1934-1964

Mr. Homer Kline celebrated his thirtieth anniversary at JTHS on March first of this year. Previous to joining the JT chemistry department, he taught at Tilden Tech in Chicago. Mr. Kline aided in the development of cellulose acetate for the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, New York. Prior to this, his home movie making was unsafe because the film was flammable. The search for an inflammable, or very slow-burning ingredient, was found in cellulose acetate.

He enjoys games of all kinds, and loves the outdoors. Some of his favorite out-of-doors activities include gardening, golfing, and hiking.

Mr. Kline has travelled in the North, South, East, and West. He has visited Europe with the Wisconsin Glee Club, and has also been to Canada. In the future he would like to travel in the Southwest, the West, and the Northwest. His great love of teaching, being what it is, may influence him to continue to teach. He is also weighing the possibility of joining the computer programming staff of IBM or RCA.

Mr. Kline is truly dedicated to his profession. Through his persistent efforts, many students have become well acquainted with chemistry, and several have achieved honors in chemistry and closely related fields. The faculty and student body of JTHS recognizes the immense loss it will suffer when such a fine teacher's retirement becomes effective this year.

The cafeteria ladies prepare an enormous amount of food daily for JT students, using one hundred twenty-five large loaves of bread each day. The cafeteria staff includes (seated): Mrs. Mary Borella, Mrs. Mary McCure, Mrs. Frieda Lemke, Mrs. Rose Pullara, and Mrs. Ann Dolasin. Standing are: Mrs. Theresa Turner, Mrs. Margaretta Jacques, Mrs. Lucille Ray, Mrs. Lilian Ingram, Mrs. Bess Di Giusto, and Mrs. Helen Muhich.

Unsung Heroines Assuring Smooth Operational Procedure

Assuming the responsibility of ordering, receiving, and cataloging library books are, Mrs. Lorraine Brown, Mrs. Mary Plohg, and Mrs. Lucille Peterson, the library staffers.

Responsible for transacting the colossal amount of daily business of Joliet Township High School and Junior College are (at the front desk) Mrs. Bea Walsh and Miss Laura Schumm; (at the middle desks) Mrs. Leona Hrivnak and Mrs. Pat Dieter; and at the back desks, Mrs. Marjorie Harrison and Mrs. Bea Fisher, employees of the business office.

The attendance office staff, Mrs. Agnes O'Connor, Mrs. Marjorie Enderson, Mrs. Goldie Koshak, and Mrs. Lorraine Brown, not only keep a daily attendance record, they also issue "nights" and maintain a file of pupil program cards.

Complete student health records are at the disposal of school nurses, Mrs. Marjorie Nance, Mrs. Dorothy Ruthenbeck, and Mrs. Gerda Thorsen, who daily treat, admit, and release students and faculty members.

A portion of the large group at the New Teachers' Tea.

More than one hundred new and veteran faculty members were on hand the evening of September 18, 1963 for the annual New Teachers' Tea. Upon arrival at the Junior College Cafeteria, veteran teachers and their spouses were presented with blue, gold-accented motor-board tags. The new teachers, along with their spouses, were given gold, blue-trimmed tags.

The pleasant, informal atmosphere facilitated acquaintance-making. Cookies, nuts, brownies, and punch were served from the colorful buffet table, highlighted by a large, full, orchid and white floral centerpiece. Three olive-green candles on either side of the flowers completed the effect.

New Teachers Welcomed At Faculty Social

Socializing and sipping brightly hued punch served in a gracious manner is practicing good fellowship in the highest form.

Hieing themselves away from the milling crowd at the New Teachers' Tea are Mr. Tompkins, Mrs. Tompkins, and Mr. Marlow. The Tea afforded an excellent opportunity for Mr. Tompkins who is Mr. Marlow's "Little Brother," to check signals with his "advisor," as he does many times throughout the year.

Mr. A. A. Wills accepts another glass of punch at the colorful buffet table.

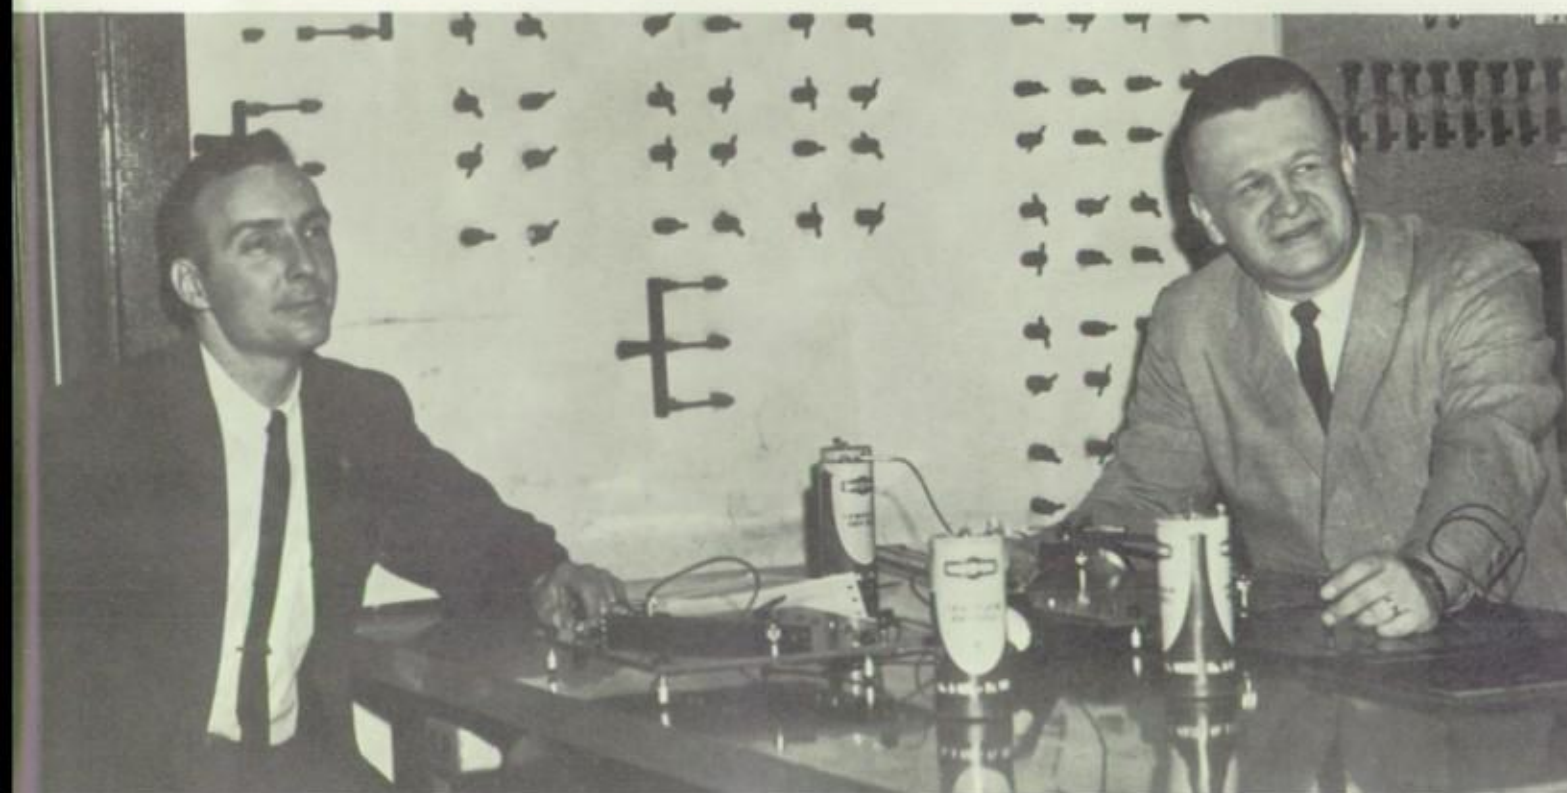

Manifestations of Teacher's Dedication To The Profession

Two zealous earth scientists, Mr. George Wells and Mr. Russell Utgard, look over a recent earth science publication. Mr. Utgard has been the well-qualified president of the active Joliet Mineralogist Society for the past two years. Mr. Wells is the organizational sponsor of that same city-wide Society.

Ranking high on the list of accomplished Illinois educators are Mr. Paul Johnson and Mr. Ivan Baldwin. Mr. Johnson is the capable president of both the Illinois Federation of Teachers and the Union Teacher Press Association. Mr. Baldwin is the Northeastern Division Membership and Finance chairman of the Illinois Education Association and the Northeastern Division National Education Chairman.

Two practitioners of science in their own way, Mr. Leonard Hodgman and Mr. Don Hopkins, seem to be quite at ease when surrounded by science apparatus. Mr. Hodgman holds the high honor of being vice-president of the Illinois Geographical Society. Mr. Hopkins has the distinction of serving as secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Junior Academy of Science.

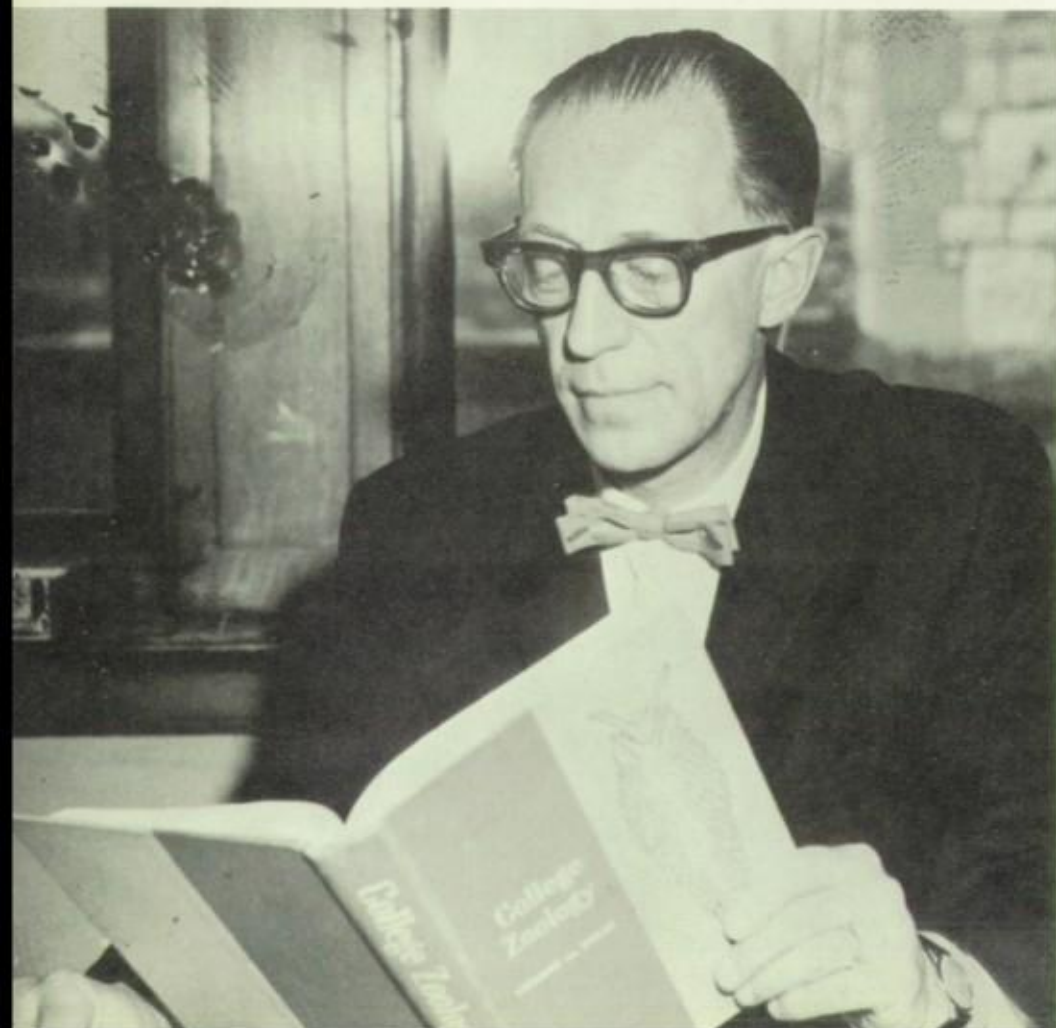

Through Service Beyond The Call of Duty

These six JT teachers enjoy engaging in theatrical work as much as Joliet area residents enjoy their efforts and performances of this Totem Pole Playhouse group. Mrs. Nancy Grider and Mr. Jestin Trahan look over a set design, while Mr. Richard Harder "constructs" a tree. Mr. B. F. Johnston and Mr. Robert Mallary look over Mr. Daniel McCarter's shoulder, as he works on some scenery.

Mr. Charles Schoenknecht, head of JT's biological science department, is writing a science series for children in an attempt to increase interest in, and knowledge of, science in young minds. He has had two books published to date: "Frogs and Toads" and "Ants." (Follette Publishing Co.) According to Mr. Schoenknecht, more books on like subjects are in the offing.

Mr. Harry Leinenweber, in association with co-authors Harris G. Warren and Ruth O. M. Andersen, has published a social studies text book, "Our Democracy At Work." Eight years of research and preparation went into this up-to-date treatment of social science.

Teachers Contribute To The Common Good of Education

Mr. George R. Denison, director of JT publications, has been called upon to address an assemblage on innumerable occasions. He has been in charge of journalism at JT since 1959. He was the 1954-55 president of the Southern Illinois School Press Association. During 1962-63 he was president of the Northern Illinois School Press Association. Currently, he is president of the Illinois Association of Teachers of Journalism and is chairman of the Executive Council of the Illinois State High School Press Association, which is administrated by the Illinois Association of Teachers of Journalism. Last spring Mr. Denison was voted into the Northern Illinois University Journalism Hall of Fame.

Mr. Ed Woods, Steelman varsity basketball coach, is a member of the Chicago Daily News Illinois "All State" Basketball Committee.

Mr. Earl Kurtz, JT art department chairman, is a member of the steering committee of College Art Teachers of Illinois. Several of his creations have been entered in art shows.

His Philosophies Live On

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
Thirty-fifth President of the United States of America
May 29, 1917 — November 22, 1963

(U.S. Army Photo)

It would hardly seem right to conclude a 1964 year book without including an event which shocked and saddened the world one November day in 1963. John F. Kennedy, who maintained such a vigorous interest in youth and in their welfare, especially through education, will be eternally remembered. It is the intent of these two pages to help us keep in mind his high ideals and tireless efforts in all worthwhile endeavors.

John Kennedy, himself a great scholar, continuously encouraged education. Believing in a realistic, well-rounded education, he endeavored to institute programs providing educational opportunities for all, considering well educated youth to be the greatest possible asset to a nation.

He attended the Riverdale Country Day School, Canterbury School, and the Choate School. He also studied at the London School of Economics. A graduate of Harvard, he excelled in swimming, sailing, and football activities while there. He was on the editorial staff of the Harvard Crimson.

Learning did not stop with formal education for John F. Kennedy. His inquiring mind and keen sense of awareness provided him with a lifetime of education. We would all do well to follow his fine example by not allowing our education to cease with graduation.

As a school year draws to a close, there comes a time to look back and remember the past events which have filled that year.

The 1963-64 school year will be remembered for many events: as the last year of a single Joliet Township High School, as a year of superb athletic teams, as a year in which higher academic goals were attained, and as a year of long-to-be-remembered social events.

This past year is one which can be looked back upon by each student of Joliet Township High School with pride. The pride of having been a member of a great school with great beliefs and traditions.

With a backward look at the close of an old year, it is also the time to look ahead to a new year. With the opening of two new Joliet Township High Schools in the fall of 1964, the needs of a great educational institution will only be reaffirmed.

Let each of us look forward to the promising future, and yet, back upon the memorable past of which we can be so proud.
